DEPARTMENT OF LAW,
CHICAGO, October 28, 1931.

In re: City of Chicago vs.
Herman N. Bundesen, et al. } U.S. District Court No. 8239

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor:

DEAR SIR—The above suit was instituted March 14, 1928 by Samuel A. Ettelson, corporation counsel, and Joseph R. Roach, special assistant corporation counsel, pursuant to an ordinance passed on February 29, 1928 and appearing in the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council for the years 1927-28 at page 2282.

When the present corporation counsel assumed the duties of his office there was no record of this proceeding upon the law docket in the office, nor any file containing pleading, trial brief, names of witnesses, or statement of facts. The case was once set for trial, according to the records of the clerk of the United States District Court, on March 7, 1930, and again on May 12, 1930. It has again been set for peremptory trial on November 5, 1931.

The amended bill of complaint on file in this case in the District Court of the United States charges that Doctor Bundesen, while health commissioner in the years 1924 to 1927, secured copyrights for himself on certain books or pamphlets prepared by him and by his employees while on the pay roll of the city and at great expense to the city. These books or pamphlets related to health problems of adults and infants and were mailed to the citizens of Chicago at the expense of the city. Since Doctor Bundesen retired from the office of health commissioner he used the copyright for his own private purposes, and it is claimed in this suit that the city, as employer of Doctor Bundesen during the time the copyrights were secured, is entitled to the benefit of the copyright and is further entitled to an accounting for the misuse of the city's money for Doctor Bundesen's private purposes.

A trial of this case will involve considerable expense and the time of this department with the result, in my opinion, that the bill will be dismissed for want of equity.

I believe that, if the facts set forth in the bill of complaint filed in this case are true and can be proved to be true, the remedy of the city in this case has been misconceived.

There is no authority in the city of Chicago to secure for itself a copyright upon any literary matter prepared by any city official in the course of his public duties, and there can be no claim, in my opinion, that the city, as employer of a city official who procures a copyright, is entitled to any property right therein.

In the case of Callaghan v. Myers, 128 U. S. 617, the Supreme Court of the United States held that there was no legislation of the state of Illinois which forbade the obtaining of a copyright by the official reporter of the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois, who was a public officer appointed pursuant to statute, performing his duties at a fixed salary. Nor was there any such legislation directing that the proprietary rights to a copyright of the official reporter should pass to the state of Illinois, or that the copyright should be taken out for or in the name of the state, as the assignee of such proprietary right; that in the absence of such legislation, even though a reporter may be a sworn public officer and even though he be paid a fixed salary for his labors, he is not deprived of the privilege of taking out a copyright covering matter which is the result of his intellectual labor while in the performance of his official duties (page 647).

There is no charge in the bill that Doctor Bundesen derived any personal profit from any of the books or pamphlets which were printed and distributed through the mails while Doctor Bundesen was commissioner of health. The object of the bill was to prevent the use of his copyright after Doctor Bundesen retired from office, and to reclaim for the city the exclusive right to disseminate information, in relation to the health of adults and babies, in the form used by Doctor Bundesen while in office, and to compel Doctor Bundesen to account for public moneys expended in the collection of data and in the distribution of the books or bulletins which he copyrighted.

I have shown that, under the law, there is no probability of establishing in the city the right to the copyright and consequently there is no probability of establishing in this suit the exclusive right of the city to publish and circulate bulletins or books of the nature and style copyrighted by Doctor Bundesen.

If the city has a right to an accounting for misuse of public funds, that right should be established in an ordinary action at law or in equity in the state courts without tying such action up with a claim to the benefits of the copyright.

This department has no facts nor information available which support the claim that Doctor Bundesen misused public funds for his private purposes, and it would seem on the contrary, from the allegations of the bill filed in the United States District Court, that the employees of the department of health and the moneys used in disseminating information relating to public health were for public purposes and that Doctor Bundesen cannot be justly criticized on that account.

I believe that the corporation counsel cannot prosecute the pending suit without stultification. This is especially true since Doctor Bundesen has become one of the official family of this administration who, by appointment of your honor with the concurrence of the city council, impliedly has been exonerated of any wrongdoing during his previous administration. I believe that the city council in approving his appointment as health commissioner has repudiated the action taken by the city council in 1928 directing that suit be instituted against him, and therefore suggest that the council should confirm its latest expression of confidence in Doctor Bundesen by passing an order authorizing the corporation counsel to dismiss the pending suit against him in the District Court of the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) JOSEPH F. GROSSMAN,
Second Assistant Corporation Counsel.

Approved:

(Signed) WM. H. SEXTON,
Corporation Counsel.

Bundesen, et al., United States District Court No. 8239, and the opinion of the corporation counsel to the mayor upon the subject of said suit, dated October 28, 1931, it is Ordered, That the corporation counsel be and he hereby is authorized to dismiss said suit without costs to either party.

Opinion Concerning Powers of the City Council to Tax Shares of Stock Issued by Banks, Insurance Companies, Etc.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the Corporation Counsel, which was ordered published and placed on file:

DEPARTMENT OF LAW,
CHICAGO, October 26, 1931.

In re: Tax on Shares of Stock for Municipal Purposes.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—On July 8, 1931, your honorable body passed an order (page 582) calling on the corporation counsel for an opinion on the power of the city of Chicago to levy a tax for city purposes on certain shares of stock. The part of the order in point reads as follows:

"Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be and he is hereby requested to submit to this Council, an opinion on the powers the City Council may have to pass an ordinance for the purpose of laying and collecting a tax for the use of the City of Chicago of one dollar on every one hundred dollars of assessed or assessable value of all shares of stock of every bank, state or national, and trust company, located in and doing business in the City of Chicago, and on all shares of stock of every domestic casualty, surety, guaranty or fidelity company, fire or marine insurance company, and finance corporation, subject to taxation in the City of Chicago."

There is no power delegated to the city of Chicago to tax shares of capital stock at the present time. A municipal corporation has no power to levy any tax except such as is specifically granted to it by the legislature. (Robbins vs. Kadyk, 312, Ill., 290.) Nor could the legislature grant the power to levy a tax of just the kind mentioned.

The General Assembly could lawfully authorize the city to impose a license tax for city purposes on the different classes of corporations mentioned, and it is possible that the law conferring such power could be framed so that the tax would be proportioned to the number of shares issued or even the par value of same.

It is even possible that the legislature might authorize the imposition of an excise tax which is not primarily a property tax. But the tax suggested in the order quoted above would be a property tax, pure and simple, based on the value of the shares, since the order says "one dollar on every one hundred dollars of assessed or assessable value of all shares of stock". Such a tax would be contrary to Section 9 of Article IX of the Constitution which provides that

"For all other corporate purposes (except local improvements), all municipal corporations may be vested with authority to assess and collect taxes; but such taxes shall be uniform in respect to persons and property within the jurisdiction of the body imposing the same."

Under the provision just quoted and a similar provision in the next section following the one quoted from, it would be unlawful to levy a property tax unless it applied to the property of all persons and all kinds of property alike. About the only exception to this rule is an exception which the Constitution itself makes in Article IV, Section 31, relating to drains, ditches, etc. (Marshall vs. Upper Cache Drainage District, 313 Ill. 41.)

We are therefore of the opinion that such a tax as is proposed by the order in question could not lawfully be levied under the Constitution of this state.

Yours truly,

First Assistant Corporation Counsel.

In the Matter of the Decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in the Case of City of Chicago v.
Chicago Rapid Transit Co.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the Corporation Counsel, which was ordered published and placed on file:

DEPARTMENT OF LAW,
CHICAGO, November 2, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—The United States Supreme Court recently disposed of the case of City of Chicago v. Chicago Rapid Transit Company by dismissing the appeal of the city. A copy of the order entered by the court is herewith transmitted.

The case involved the validity of the current rates of fare charged by the Chicago Rapid Transit Company.

On June 28, 1928, the Illinois Commerce Commission entered an order denying to the Rapid Transit Company the right to discontinue from its schedule of rates the following items: ticket fare (three tickets of 25c), weekly pass (bearer, $1.25), weekly pass (bearer, through suburban fares north of Howard street and west of Desplaines avenue, $2.00).

The Chicago Rapid Transit Company thereupon filed its bill in the United States Court to enjoin the Illinois Commerce Commission and the attorney general from interfering with the Rapid Transit Company in charging and collecting the present rates of fare, i.e., ten cents cash per adult passenger within the city of Chicago, and other rates (not material to specify for the purposes of this letter) for children's fares and for through suburban fares.

The City of Chicago, by its corporation counsel Samuel A. Ettelson and special assistants, secured leave of the Federal Statutory Court to become a party to the litigation between the Rapid Transit Company and the Illinois Commerce Commission and, leave having been granted, sought to have the suit of the Rapid Transit Company dismissed for want of jurisdiction in the Federal Statutory Court. The point urged in support of the petition of the city to dismiss was that the city of Chicago had a contract with the Elevated Railway Companies, predecessors to the Chicago Rapid Transit Company, for a five cent fare within the city which the Chicago Rapid Transit Company assumed upon the consolidation of the Elevated Railway Companies; that notwithstanding the Illinois Commerce Commission had subsequently ignored the contract ordinances and fixed a higher rate of fare, the company had no right to complain to the Federal Statutory Court that the rate fixed by the Illinois Commerce Commission was inadequate because the company had no vested right in any fare in excess of five cents. The United States District Court refused to dismiss the proceedings and, after a hearing on the merits of the case, entered a final decree enjoining the Illinois Commerce Commission and the attorney general as prayed for by the Chicago Rapid Transit Company. Neither the Illinois Commerce Commission nor the attorney general prosecuted an appeal from the final decree of the Federal Statutory Court and, although requested by the city's counsel, refused to join in an appeal with the city. The city thereupon petitioned for and was given leave to prosecute a separate appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

The record and briefs were filed in the Supreme Court of the United States to the October term 1931, and the case was prepared for oral argument by Albert H. Veeder, as special assistant corporation counsel, and Joseph F. Grossman, second assistant corporation counsel. These men appeared upon the call of the case at Washington on Wednesday, October 21, and, upon a statement of the case to the court, the chief justice indicated that the Supreme Court would not hear the merits of the case because the Illinois Commerce Commission and the attorney general were not before the court.

The effect of this decision is that the city of Chicago is helpless in any case brought into the Federal Courts involving the rates and service of public utilities; that the interests of the people affected by any service or rate of a public utility must be protected in the Federal Courts by the Illinois Commerce Commission and the attorney general.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) JOSEPH F. GROSSMAN,
Second Assistant Corporation Counsel.

Corporation Counsel.

ORDER DISMISSING THE APPEAL OF THE CITY OF CHICAGO.

No. 25. City of Chicago, appellant, v. Chicago Rapid Transit Company. Appeal from the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Illinois. Per curiam: This suit was brought to restrain the Illinois Commerce Commission and the Attorney General of the State of Illinois from enforcing an order of the commission prescribing rates of fare upon the appellee's railroads upon the ground that the order was confiscatory and in violation of the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States. The city of Chicago was permitted to intervene as defendant. The District Court, composed of three judges (U. S. C., Title 28, Sec. 380), granted an interlocutory injunction, and on final hearing entered its decree, adjudging, upon findings, that the rates prescribed by the State commission were confiscatory and permanently restraining the enforcement of its order. The Illinois Commerce Commission and the Attorney General of the State have not appealed from the decree, which is thus a final adjudication of the invalidity of the rate order. The present appeal is taken by the city of Chicago.

The Court is of the opinion that the city of Chicago has no separate standing which entitles it to appeal from the decree, and its appeal is dismissed. *City of Pawhuska v. Exchange of Copies of the Revised Chicago Code of 1931 for Copies of Smith-Hurd Illinois Statutes.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the Corporation Counsel:

DEPARTMENT OF LAW,
CHICAGO, October 28, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—The law department has need of six copies of the Smith-Hurd Illinois Statutes. We were about to purchase these when an offer was made by the Illinois Book Exchange to exchange six copies of these statutes for six copies of the 1931 code of the city of Chicago. The market value of the statutes is $15.00 per copy and this is what the city would be compelled to pay if these six copies were purchased in the regular way. The price fixed in the code for the Revised Chicago Code of 1931 is also $15.00. Consequently, there would be an even exchange.

In view of the fact that it is advisable at present to conserve the cash in the appropriations for the law department, we recommend that the city council give authority for the exchange that is proposed by the Illinois Book Exchange. To that end, we have prepared draft of an ordinance giving such authority and submit the same herewith.

Yours truly,

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—At the request of Alderman Northrup, we have prepared draft of an ordinance amending the Revised Chicago Code of 1931 so as to include provisions for cinder concrete building units.

This ordinance is merely a redraft of an ordinance passed by your honorable body on March 30, 1929, as an amendment to the Chicago Municipal Code of 1922 which amendment was inadvertently overlooked during the compilation of the present code. The following is said ordinance as passed:

AN ORDINANCE

Amending Chapter 50 of the Revised Chicago Code of 1931.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Chicago:

SECTION 1. That Chapter 50 of the Revised Chicago Code of 1931 be and the same is hereby amended by striking out the title of said chapter and by substituting in lieu thereof the following title:

"POWER, HEATING AND MELTING PLANTS AND APPARATUS."

SECTION 2. That Section 2578 of said Code be and the same is hereby amended by striking out the word "ten" as the same appears in the third and fourth lines of said section, as printed, and by inserting in lieu thereof, in each case, the word "fifteen".

SECTION 3. That Sections 2581 to 2596, inclusive, of said Code be and the same are hereby amended to read as follows:

2581. Duties of department of steam boilers and steam plants—construction of boilers, etc.—tests.)

It shall be the duty of the chief inspector of steam boilers and cooling plants and his deputies to inspect all boilers, tanks, jacketed kettles, generators or other apparatus used for generating or transmitting steam for power, or using steam under pressure for heating or steaming purposes, and all other tanks, jacketed kettles and reservoirs under pressure of whatsoever kind, except as hereinafter provided, as often as once in each and every year, by making a hydrostatic pressure test where such test shall be deemed necessary; provided, that the hydrostatic pressure used in such test shall not exceed the maximum working pressure of such apparatus by more than fifty per cent; and by making a careful external and internal examination. In all cases where hydrostatic pressure test is used an internal examination of such apparatus shall afterwards be made.

Any boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or reservoir having been in use eight years or more and its condition being such that in the opinion of the inspector the same should be drilled in order that the exact thickness and condition may be ascertained, he shall report the same to the chief inspector of steam boilers and cooling plants, who shall serve the owner or agent with a written notice to show cause to the chief inspector within five days why such boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or reservoir should not be drilled.

If, after the owner or agent has been heard, or at the end of five days, the chief inspector deems it necessary that the boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or reservoir be drilled, then the boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or reservoir may be drilled at points near the water line, and at the bottom of the shell of the boiler, or such other points in the boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or reservoir as the inspecting officer may direct, and the thickness of said material shall be determined thereafter at such annual inspection as the inspecting officer may deem necessary, and the steam pressure or other pressure allowed shall be governed by such ascertained thickness and general condition of boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or reservoir. And the drilling and plugging of said holes shall be done at the expense of the owner.

2582. Permits for new plants—plans, etc.) No new plants, nor any reconstruction of any old plants, for producing power and heat, or either of them, shall be erected or maintained in the city until the plans and specifications of the same have been filed in the office of, and approved by, and a permit for such erection or construction issued by, the chief inspector of steam boilers and cooling plants, which plans and specifications shall show the amount of work and the amount of heating to be done by such plant and all the appurtenances thereto, including all provisions for the purpose of securing complete combustion of the fuel to be used, and a statement of the kind of fuel to be used. Such plans and specifications shall also show that the room or apartment in which such plant shall be located is provided with doors, windows, air-shafts, fans, and other means of ventilation sufficient to prevent the temperature of such room, apartment, basement or other portion of such building wherein such steam plant or apparatus is to be used, from rising to a point higher than one hundred and twenty degrees Fahrenheit, or that the atmosphere of any such apartment wherein such apparatus may be located may be entirely renewed every ten minutes. Upon approval of such plans and specifications, a duplicate set of which shall be left on file in said office, and the payment of fees as hereinafter provided, and upon the presentation of the department of a permit issued by the department of smoke inspection and abatement said chief inspector shall issue a permit for the installation of such plant or such reconstruction. Such permit shall state the maximum amount of steam pressure to be carried.

2583. Duty of owners—low pressure boilers—inspection.) It shall be unlawful for any person to use any steam boiler, or tank or tanks, subject to pressure, other than city pressure, until he shall first have procured a certificate from the chief inspector of steam boilers and cooling plants that such apparatus may be safely used, and that the boiler or boilers, boiler setting, means of producing draft, smoke connections, and furnace or fire box are of such size and capacity that they will do the work required.

If such owner, agent or person using a steam boiler or tank shall fail to notify said chief inspector of his intention to make any alteration, repairs or enlargement of such steam plant, and shall fail to file plans and specifications for the enlargement or alterations of the same, and shall proceed to make such alterations, repairs, or enlargement without a permit therefor, he shall be liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars for each day on which he shall have prosecuted such alterations, repairs or enlargement without said permit, and each day's violation shall constitute a separate offense.

If at any time when inspecting a steam boiler, generator or other apparatus used for generating steam for power or heating purposes, the inspector of boilers shall find that the furnace or firebox in which fuel is used for the purpose of generating steam is so constructed or operated as to cause the emission of dense smoke from the chimney connected therewith he shall report the condition of such plant to the department of smoke inspection and abatement.

Any boilers for heating purposes only, in which the permit specifies that not more than fifteen pounds of steam pressure to the square inch shall be carried shall be known as "low pressure boilers".

2584. Exceptions—elevator tanks.) The provisions of this article relating to the inspection of boilers, generators or other apparatus carrying other than city pressure shall not apply to such boilers, generators or apparatus while in use or installed in any locomotive, steam or tug boat. The provisions of this article relating to the inspection of steam boilers, generators or other apparatus carrying other than city pressure shall be held to apply to any such steam boiler, generator or apparatus in use or installed in any steam roller, steam derrick, steam pile driver, automobile or other movable structure or contrivance of any kind whatsoever used within the city; provided, however, that this article shall not apply to elevator tanks, except as hereinafter provided, and to boilers, generators, or other apparatus used in private residence for generating steam solely for heating purposes; and for the purpose of this article flat buildings or apartment buildings with more than three apartments shall not be classed as private residences, and any steam boiler, generator or other apparatus used for generating steam in flat buildings or apartment buildings having more than three flats or apartments, shall be subject to inspection as hereinafter provided.

All water tanks and all combination water and air tanks used for the operation of elevators shall be internally inspected once each year during the intervening years. The thickness of the shell of all elevator tanks installed after December 13, 1909, shall be computed by using a factor of safety of five, and in computing the safe working pressure of all elevator tanks in use prior to December 13, 1909, the factor of safety shall not be less than three and one-half, and no such elevator tank now in use, where the factor of safety is three and one-half or more, shall be condemned or have its working pressure reduced, unless it can be shown that such tank through any cause has become unsafe.

Any elevator tank having been in use twelve years or more, which is in such condition that in the opinion of the inspector the same should be drilled, in order that the exact thickness and condition may be ascertained, shall be reported to the chief inspector of steam boilers and cooling plants, who shall serve the owner or agent with a written notice to show reasons to the chief inspector within five days why such elevator tank should not be drilled.

If, after the owner or agent has been heard, or at the end of five days, the chief inspector deems it necessary that the tank should be drilled, then the tank may be drilled at such point as the inspecting officer may direct, and the thickness of said material shall be determined thereafter at such annual inspection as the inspecting officer may deem necessary, and the operating pressure shall be governed by such ascertained thickness and the general condition of the tank. The drilling and plugging of said holes shall be done at the expense of the owner.

2585. Certificate—record.) When an inspection of a boiler or boilers, tank or tanks, jacketed kettle, generator or generators, superheater or superheaters, or any apparatus under pressure, has been made, and the same shall be approved, by the chief inspector or supervising mechanical engineer and chief deputy inspector of steam boilers and cooling plants, he shall make and deliver to the person for whom the inspection was made, upon the payment of the fees hereinafter mentioned, a certificate of such inspection, which shall contain the date of inspection, together with a general description of such apparatus, for what purpose used, the number of try-cocks, steam and water gauges, and the pounds pressure at which they may be safely used; which certificate shall be framed and put up in a conspicuous place in the engine or boiler room, and a record of the same shall be made and kept by said department, in a well-bound book or books, indexed alphabetically or by locality.

2586. Certificate of inspection—permit for new plant, etc.—emission of dense smoke.) The issuance or delivery by the department for the inspection of steam boilers, unfired pressure vessels and cooling plants to any person or corporation of any certificate of inspection herein provided for, or the possession by any person or corporation of any such certificate, shall not be held to exempt any person or corporation to whom such certificate was issued or delivered, or who is in possession or control of any such certificate, from prosecution for any violation of the provisions of any ordinance in relation to or concerning the issuing or emission of dense smoke caused or permitted by such person or corporation. The issuance or delivery by said department of any permit for the construction of any new plant or reconstruction of any old plant, or any part thereof, shall not be held to exempt any person or corporation, to whom any such permit has been issued or delivered, or who is in possession of any such permit, from prosecution on account of the emission or issuance of dense smoke caused or permitted by any such person or corporation.

2587. Inspection of repairs.) It shall be the duty of the chief inspector of steam boilers and cooling plants upon an application in writing made by any person or corporation owning, leasing or controlling the use of any boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator, or superheater stating that the same is out of repair or has been repaired, to examine the same when so repaired, and determine if such repairing has been properly done; and it shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to use any boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or superheater, after the same has been repaired until a certificate shall have been procured from the inspector, to the effect that such repairing has been properly done, and such boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or superheater may be safely used, except as hereinbefore provided in this article.

2588. Fees.) The fees for inspection of steam boilers and other apparatus under this article shall be as follows:

All fees provided for in this article shall be paid to the city collector.

2589. Exemptions — charitable, religious and educational institutions.) Said chief inspector may, and he is hereby directed and instructed to, remit all inspection fees charged, or that may hereafter be charged, against any and all charitable, religious and educational institutions, when the boiler or other apparatus inspected is located in or upon premises used or occupied exclusively by such charitable, religious or educational institutions; provided, that such charitable, religious or educational institution is not conducted or carried on for private gain or profit, and provided further, that the said chief inspector may require every application for the remission of such fees to be verified by the affidavit of one or more taxpayers of the city.

If any person acting on behalf of the city under the provisions of this article shall take or receive any money or any valuable thing from any person for the purpose of deceiving or defrauding any person or persons, or for the purpose of favoring any person or persons, or if any inspector shall recommend the issue of any certificate of inspection without having, at the time stated, thoroughly examined and tested the boiler so certified, he shall be fined one hundred dollars for each offense.

2591. Work must be done by licensed firm.) Any repair or erection of a steam boiler, steam kettle, pressure tank, superheater or generator in the city shall be done in accordance with the ordinance and rules governing the department for the inspection of steam boilers, unfired pressure vessels and cooling plants, and where a permit is required under this article, said permit shall be issued only upon the application of a person, firm or corporation licensed as specified in this article, or upon an application containing a sworn statement that such work will be performed by a person, firm or corporation licensed as herein provided. Such permit shall be revoked and the work thereunder shall be stopped by order of the chief inspector of steam boilers and cooling plants upon a showing that the person, firm or corporation doing the work is not licensed as herein provided.

2592. Owners to provide facilities.) Every person owning or having possession or control of any steam boiler, tank, jacketed kettle, generator or superheater, subject to inspection as aforesaid, shall provide at his own expense proper arrangements and facilities for attaching the instruments of inspection. Immediately before the time set for such inspection, every such person shall remove all scale, dirt, soot and sediment in, beneath and around such boiler, shall fill the same with water, when so directed by the inspector, and have all main stop valves, and other valves, and connections on such boiler or boilers perfectly tight, so that the inspector may be able to apply hydrostatic pressure, leaving all said apparatus in clean condition for inspection.

2593. Engineer's negligence — maximum pressure and safety valves.) Any engineer or other person in charge of a steam boiler or generator who shall negligently or wrongfully endanger the life of any person by permitting the water to fall below three inches above the flues or crown sheet of any boiler, or shall disturb the spring or weight on the safety valve, or break the seal of the safety valve, or tamper with it so as to carry more pressure than allowed by the inspector, or who shall otherwise neglect his duties, shall be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

The safety valves of steam boilers shall not be loaded to sustain more than the maximum pressure allowed by said inspector, and the area of the discharge of each safety valve shall be equal to the full area of the valve, and all safety valves shall be directly open to the atmosphere.

WHEREAS, The salaries of teachers in our public schools, and of the employees of the City government of Chicago, are paid for by taxes received from retailers, small business men, home owners, rent payers and others residing within the City limits of Chicago, and

WHEREAS, Residence on the part of City employes within the City limits of Chicago tends to maintain and increase the means of livelihood, business and general well-being of retailers, small business men, owners of apartment buildings and homes, and other tax and rent payers, and

WHEREAS, According to the list of names and addresses of teachers, printed on pages 241-505 of the Directory of the Public Schools of the City of Chicago for the year 1930-1931, there are 1,364 public school teachers whose addresses show that they reside outside of the City limits of Chicago, and

WHEREAS, The Directory of the Public Schools of Chicago for the year 1930-1931, referred to above, also shows that seven teachers reside in Gary, four in Hobart, two in East Chicago, one in Indiana Harbor, and one in Kendallville, or a total of fifteen teachers whose legal residence is in the State of Indiana; there are 40 teachers from Joliet and 33 teachers from Lockport, Illinois, or a total of 73 teachers whose legal residence is in Will County; and

WHEREAS, Such Directory of the Public Schools of Chicago for the year 1930-1931 further discloses that there are two assistant superintendents of schools, each at a salary of $10,000 per annum, residing outside of the City limits of Chicago, one living in Glencoe and the other in Dolton, Illinois:

WHEREAS, Due to the non-residence of 1,364 teachers within the City limits of Chicago, the huge sum of $3,410,000, or over 3½ per cent of the total expenditures of the City of Chicago for public school purposes is taken out of the City by such school teachers in the form of salaries, which are expended for the benefit of retailers and shop keepers doing business in other cities, villages and towns in Cook County and in Will, Dupage and Lake counties, as well as in the cities, villages and towns in the neighboring State of Indiana; and

WHEREAS, It is obvious that if these 1,364 non-resident public school teachers should be compelled to reside within the City limits of Chicago, then the sum of $3,410,000 which they receive annually in salaries would be expended for the benefit of the retailers, small business men, owners of apartment buildings and homes, and other taxpayers in the City of Chicago, who are responsible for the payment of the salaries of such public school teachers; and

WHEREAS, It is estimated that there are between twelve and thirteen hundred graduates of the Chicago Normal College who are walking the streets of Chicago, jobless and unemployed, unable to find work, and consequently in distress and misery, while outsiders and non-residents of the City of Chicago are being imported into the public school system of Chicago by the Board of Education and are given preference over jobless and unemployed teachers living within the City limits of Chicago; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Education of the City of Chicago be and it is hereby directed to enforce Section 668 of the Revised Chicago Code of 1931, which provides that all officers and employees in the classified civil service shall be actual residents of the City of Chicago, and that those who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be discharged from the service; and be it further

WHEREAS, Said committee obtained the opinion of Messrs. Chapman & Cutler, attorneys, recognized authorities on municipal financial offerings, that such increase in the rate of interest could be legally made; and

WHEREAS, The City Council and the Board of Education of the City of Chicago, by appropriate ordinances and resolutions, have authorized the resale of said $6,965,000.00 of 1930 Educational Fund Tax Anticipation Warrants at the increased rate of interest and the reinvestment of the proceeds realized from the sale thereof in 1931 Educational Fund Tax Anticipation Warrants to be issued by the Board of Education by and with the consent and approval of the City Council which will put the Board of Education in possession of $6,965,000.00 in cash to apply on such past due salaries; and

WHEREAS, Purchasers of such 1930 Educational Fund Tax Anticipation Warrants may apply them in payment of substantially 20% of the 1930 taxes which will be put in collection within the next few months; and

WHEREAS, The Chicago Surface Lines, as one of the large taxpayers of Chicago, has already agreed to purchase from the City of Chicago approximately $300,000.00 of said $6,965,000.00 1930 Educational Fund Tax Anticipation Warrants for the payment of its 1930 taxes; and

REPORTS AND COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITY OFFICERS.

MAYOR.

Veto.

St. Joseph's Lithuanian Church: Free Permit.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following veto message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, November 18, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval, an order passed by your honorable body on November 5, 1931, and appearing on page 1167 of the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of that date, whereby the Commissioner of Buildings and the Commissioner of Health are directed to issue free permits for the erection of a two-room frame portable school house at the southwest corner of 88th street and Marquette avenue.

My reason for vetoing said order is that there is nothing that appears therein to indicate that plans for the said building have been submitted to the Commissioner of Buildings, and therefore there is no way for me to determine whether the same will be a substantial violation of the building ordinances or not.

I therefore recommend that the vote by which the said order was passed be reconsidered and that the same be referred to the Committee on Buildings and Zoning for further consideration.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

A. J. CERMAK,
Mayor.

Alderman Bowler moved to reconsider the vote by which said vetoed order was passed.

The motion prevailed.

Alderman Bowler moved to refer said order to the Committee on Buildings and Zoning.

Veto.

Agar Packing Co.: Waiving of Floor Tests in a Building.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following veto message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, November 18, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval an order passed by your honorable body on November 5, 1931, and appearing on page 1214 of the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of that date, whereby the Commissioner of Buildings is directed to waive floor tests on the building located at 1057 South Union avenue, operated by the Agar Packing Company.

My reason for vetoing said order is that the same is contrary to the ordinances requiring such tests, and no reason appears for such avoidance of the provisions of the ordinance.

I therefore recommend that the vote by which the said order was passed be reconsidered and that the same be referred to the Committee on Buildings and Zoning for further consideration.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

A. J. CERMAK,
Mayor.

Alderman Toman moved to reconsider the vote by which said vetoed order was passed.

The motion prevailed.

Alderman Toman moved to re-refer said order to the Committee on Buildings and Zoning.

Veto.

John Krysis: Construction of a Porch.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following veto message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, November 18, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval an order passed by your honorable body on November 5, 1931, and appearing on page 1216 of the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of that date, whereby the Commissioner of Buildings is directed to issue a permit to John Krysis to construct and maintain a frame porch on the rear of the building located at No. 1629 West 17th street.

My reason for vetoing said order is that the said order indicates that the porch is to be forty feet high, which is considerably in excess of what should be permitted in a frame structure of this kind, and it is contrary to the City ordinances. No reason appears why such a violation of the ordinance should be permitted.

I therefore recommend that the vote by which the said order was passed be reconsidered and that the same be referred to the Committee on Buildings and Zoning for further consideration.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

A. J. CERMAK,
Mayor.

Alderman Toman moved to reconsider the vote by which said vetoed order was passed.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,}
CHICAGO, November 16, 1931.}

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I am in receipt of a communication from the President of the United States reading as follows:

"THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington.

November 9, 1931.

MY DEAR MAYOR CERMAK:

From December 2 to 5 will be held in Washington a national Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership which I have called to consider the whole question of homes—urban and rural.

This conference follows months of study by committees of men and women of authority and experience who have gathered and analyzed available information as well as made additional studies and inquiries. Among the subjects considered are construction, financing, design, equipment, city planning, environment, furnishing, home management, and the reports and recommendations are based on the best experience of those who have special knowledge of the subjects.

All of these questions are so interlaced with our economic situation, and adequate housing involves such important aspects of health, morals, education, and efficiency that I am hopeful that every community will participate in the forthcoming conference.

I shall greatly appreciate it, therefore, if you will appoint representatives from your various official departments whose interests are in the respective fields of work covered by the Conference in the thought that the exchange of experience and the establishment of standards and methods will encourage home building and home ownership, help to increase employment through stimulation of construction and the industries upon which building depends, and promote social stability.

Yours faithfully,

(Signed)

Proposed Establishment of a Department of Central Purchasing.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following communication, which was, together with the ordinance submitted therewith, referred to the Committee on Finance:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
 CHICAGO, November 18, 1931.

To the Honorable City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I am transmitting herewith an ordinance providing for the establishment of a Department of Central Purchasing.

This ordinance has been prepared as the result of detailed examination and report and recommendations made under the supervision of J. L. Jacobs and Company with the direct assistance of Mr. Russell Forbes, Special Consultant assigned by the National Association of Purchasing Agents and with the support of the Purchasing Agents' Association of Chicago. The report and recommendations, together with the ordinance, have been approved by the Mayor's Advisory Commission and have also had the close direction of Mr. John R. Whitehead, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Purchasing of the Mayor's Advisory Commission. The draft of the ordinance has also been approved as to legality of form by the Corporation Counsel.

The recommendation of the Mayor's Advisory Commission, together with the ordinance submitted herewith, are in line with one of the divisions of the efficiency and economy program which I presented in my inaugural address to your Honorable Body for the development of a practical constructive plan designed to improve the City's central purchasing administration "by providing approved safeguards in the purchase, handling, delivery and accounting for supplies, materials and equipment, and to encourage by every proper means a feeling in the business community that the City of Chicago is entitled to the same consideration in its contracts and purchases as are large private businesses, and that the City of Chicago on its part will deal fairly and honestly with the business public in its purchases of supplies and the letting of contracts".

At the present time 14 separate purchasing and contracting offices are maintained by the City of Chicago and its semi-independent agencies. These 14 different departments and agencies are buying supplies, material and equipment aggregating over $18,350,000 annually, which amount includes some $10,000,000 for such supplies purchased by the Board of Education. The total of $18,350,000 is exclusive of the contract expenditures for building and public works construction projects by the different City departments and agencies which in 1930 were estimated at over $45,480,000.

It is safe to predict that a real purchasing system will reduce the total costs of commodities at least from 10 to 15 per cent. Based on 1930 expenditures in the departments which will participate in the central purchasing system, the annual savings should be at least one million dollars on supplies, materials and equipment purchased by the present City departments alone. This does not take into account the very substantial additional savings possible by a similar purchasing system in the Board of Education and other semi-independent City agencies or on construction contracts. The extension of central purchasing to these semi-independent City agencies would unquestionably result in additional savings of at least one million dollars annually. These are all exclusive of larger reductions in building and construction contracts entered into by the various City departments and agencies under free competitive bidding and control over expenditures.

The indirect savings should be equal in amount and probably more. The adoption and use of standard specifications will enable the City to specify what it wants and to secure what it orders, thus eliminating the uncertainties which now delimit the securing of widespread competition and handicap the inspection, and will also make possible for the first time the pooling of the City's needs into bulk orders. The centralization of responsibility for stocks on hand and for transferring and salvaging surplus commodities will reduce the City's investment in stores, will discourage the purchase of excess quantities, will prevent the expenditures of funds for new goods when surplus goods are available for use, and will return to the treasury an increased amount from salvage of commodities now lying idle and unaccounted for before their value is dissipated through obsolescence and deterioration.

The total economies which will be effected by the Department of Central Purchasing cannot be accurately determined at this time. The expenditures for supplies and material for the operating departments will depend somewhat upon the extent to which the recommendations for reorganization of the operating departments are put into effect. The total expenditures will also depend upon market conditions and the fluctuation in the purchasing power of the dollar. The reduction in unit costs is also unpredictable because bulk buying with maximum competition has never been given a fair trial in the City government.

Under the central purchasing system and the provisions in the ordinance, the Department of Central Purchasing will have charge of the purchase and contracting for supplies, materials and equipment and contractual services required for use by all departments, boards and agencies under the control of the City Council and for any other department or board in the City government which is not under the control of the City Council but which by voluntary action votes to participate in the central purchasing system.

Standards and specifications will be prescribed for all purchases made through it, and periodic tests and inspections will be made to ensure the deliveries correspond with the orders or contracts. Such tests will be supplemental to the regular tests and inspections by the department using the commodities concerned.

The department is also authorized to call for and keep records and inventories showing the material and supplies on hand in the various departmental store rooms, and it will also dispose of unneeded or waste material which can be salvaged from each department.

Purchases will be made on requisition by the head of each department, but the standards and specifications called for will be set by a board of standardization, provided for in the ordinance.

The board of standardization created to supervise the establishment and use of standards and standard specifications will consist of the Commissioner of Central Purchasing, the Commissioner of Public Works, and the Commissioner of Health, all acting ex-officio, and in addition the heads of any other operating departments who may be called into consultation regarding their specific requirements in any commodity or class of commodities. In establishing standards and standard specifications, the Board of standardization will avail itself of the engineering and testing facilities in the various operating departments, and will strive to make the standards conform as closely as possible to the requirements of the using departments.

Summarized, the centralized purchasing system for the City offers the following outstanding advantages:

- (1) Standardization and the adoption of definite specifications;
- (2) Lower unit costs and better delivery service;
- (3) Reduction in the volume of "paper work";
- (4) Centralized supervision over inspection of deliveries, storage and distribution of stock, and interdepartmental transfers and sales of surplus stock;
- (5) Closer accounting control over expenditures;
- (6) Saving of discounts through prompt payment of invoices;
- (7) Employment of a full-time purchasing staff, which improves buying technique and tends to eliminate favoritism;
- (8) Simplification of the vendor's problem, through making possible the solicitation of business from one purchasing office and reduction in the number of orders and deliveries.

In order that the department may be immediately organized and the benefits from central purchasing accrue to the City at the earliest time, I respectfully suggest that this ordinance be referred to the proper committee for favorable consideration and report to and action by the City Council so that the same may be put into effect before the passage of the 1932 budget.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

Mayor.

cept across the roadways of all intersecting alleys) in such a manner that the roadway face of the curb shall be parallel with and fifteen (15) feet from the center line of each of said above specified streets, except where the curb lines of said above specified streets intersect the curb lines of the intersecting streets where the roadway face of the curb of said combined curb and gutter shall be constructed to conform to an arc of a circle having a radius of ten (10) feet; and a concrete combined curb and gutter shall be constructed on each side of the roadways of all intersecting alleys extended from the curb line to the street line on each side of said above specified streets between the points herein described in such a manner that the back of the curb shall conform with the alley lines produced of said intersecting alleys.

Said combined curb and gutter shall be made as follows, to wit:

The concrete shall consist of the best quality of portland cement, fine crushed granite or trap rock and granite or trap rock broken to varying sizes which will pass through a ring of one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) inches internal diameter and be held on a ring of one-fourth ($\frac{1}{4}$) of an inch internal diameter, in the proportion of one (1) part cement, two (2) parts fine granite or trap rock and four (4) parts broken granite or trap rock, to which shall be added sufficient clean water to form a suitable mixture. The concrete shall be thoroughly mixed in a rotary batch mixer and rammed into forms until solid.

The material to be used in finishing the surface of said combined curb and gutter shall consist of the best quality of portland cement mixed with finely crushed granite or trap rock in the proportion of one (1) part cement and two (2) parts granite or trap rock, which after being moistened with water to form a mortar shall be evenly spread over the top and roadway face of the curb to a thickness of one-eighth ($\frac{1}{8}$) of an inch and over the surface of the gutter to a thickness of one (1) inch, so as to insure a smooth and even surface on the exposed surface of said combined curb and gutter after being evenly trowelled and finished with a broom.

The curb shall be nine (9) inches thick and the height at the back shall vary from seventeen (17) inches at the catchbasin inlets to eleven (11) inches at the summits, and the gutter shall be nine (9) inches in width and eight (8) inches in thickness. The upper roadway edge of the curb shall be rounded to an arc of a circle having a radius of one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) inches.

Said combined curb and gutter shall be constructed upon a foundation of cinders, gravel or sand, which shall be three (3) inches in depth after being flooded with water and thoroughly compacted and brought to an even surface. Said foundation of cinders, gravel or sand shall be placed upon a sub-grade of earth or other suitable material free from animal or vegetable matter, which shall be graded by cutting or filling, and thoroughly compacted. Said combined curb and gutter shall be backfilled with earth, free from animal or vegetable matter, said filling to be four (4) feet wide at the top of the curb and even therewith, and thence shall slope down at the rate of one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) feet horizontal to one (1) foot vertical.

Said combined curb and gutter shall be so constructed that the upper surface of the gutter shall conform to the surface of the finished roadways as herein described. The top edge of the curb on each side of the roadway of each of said above specified streets shall be at the elevation of straight lines connecting the several points at the curb elevations herein described, and the top edge of the curb on each side of the roadways of all intersecting alleys extended from the curb line to the street line on each side of said above specified streets shall rise from the curb line to the street line at the rate of one (1) inch vertical to three (3) feet horizontal from the elevation of the curb of said above specified streets between the points herein described. The curb elevations of said above specified streets shall be as follows, to wit:

The above elevations as fixed shall be measured from Chicago City datum as established by the City Council of the City of Chicago.

The roadways of the several streets specified above between the points herein described and also the roadways of all intersecting alleys extended from the curb line to the street line on each side of said above specified streets between the points herein described (except the intersections of South McVicker avenue and South Meade avenue with West 55th street) shall be so graded by cutting or filling and compacted by rolling with a roller of ten (10) tons weight that after the grading of the roadbeds is completed and the pavement herein described placed thereon, the surface of the finished pavement at the center of the roadway of each of said above specified streets shall be at the elevation of the top of the curbing herein described; and the surface of the said finished pavement at the summits in the gutters between catchbasins and adjoining the roadway face of the curbing shall be two (2) inches below the top of said curbing, and at the catchbasin inlets in the gutters adjoining the roadway face of the curbing shall be eight (8) inches below the top of said curbing. The slope of the gutters adjoining the roadway face of said curbing shall be uniform from the summits to the catchbasin inlets.

A transverse section of the surface of the finished pavement and gutters shall be an arc of a circle passing through the said gutter elevations and the elevation of the center of said finished roadway at every part of the roadway of each of said above specified streets between the points herein described.

In all intersecting alleys herein specified at the street lines of said above specified streets the surface of the finished pavement adjoining the curbing shall be even with the top of the curbing, and the surface of the finished pavement at the center of the roadways of said alleys shall be three (3) inches below the top of the curbing; and a transverse section of the surface of the finished pavement at the street lines of said above specified streets shall be an arc of a circle passing through the surface of the pavement adjoining said curbing and the surface of the pavement at the center of said finished roadways. The surface of the said pavement thence shall slope gradually to meet the surface of the finished pavement at the curb lines of said above specified streets.

A foundation of Portland cement concrete six (6) inches thick shall be laid upon the roadbeds thus prepared between said points and between said gutters.

The sand used in making concrete for the said concrete foundation shall be clean and sharp, free from dust, dirt and other impurities and shall contain not more than three (3) per cent of clay or loam, and be graded so that not less than ninety-five (95) per cent can pass a four (4) mesh sieve and not more than twenty-five (25) per cent can pass a fifty (50) mesh sieve.

The slag or limestone screenings used in making concrete for the said concrete foundation shall be made from the best quality of slag or limestone, free from dust, dirt and other impurities, and shall be graded so that not less than ninety-five (95) per cent can pass a four (4) mesh sieve and not more than fifteen (15) per cent can pass a one hundred (100) mesh sieve.

The slag, limestone or other stone equivalent in quality, for concrete purposes used in making the concrete for the said concrete foundation shall be of the best quality of each of the respective materials to be used, clean, free from dust and graded so that one hundred (100) per cent can pass a ring of two (2) inches inside diameter, and not less than twenty (20) per cent nor more than forty (40) per cent can pass a ring of three-fourths ($\frac{3}{4}$) inch inside diameter, and not more than ten (10) per cent can pass a ring of one-fourth ($\frac{1}{4}$) inch inside diameter.

The Portland cement used in this improvement shall be ground so that ninety-two (92) per cent can pass a one hundred (100) mesh sieve, and shall be of such quality that briquettes made of a mortar composed of a proper amount of clean water, one (1) part by volume of said Portland cement and three (3) parts by volume of said sand used for making the concrete for the said concrete foundation shall have at the expiration of seven (7) days, an ultimate tensile strength of at least two hundred (200) pounds per square inch, after being exposed to the air for the first day and then submerged in water for the six (6) following days.

The concrete for the said concrete foundation shall be made by mixing by volume one (1) part of said Portland cement, two and one-half ($2\frac{1}{2}$) parts of said sand or two and one-half ($2\frac{1}{2}$) parts of said slag or limestone screenings and five (5) parts of said slag, limestone, or other stone together with a proper amount of clean water in a rotary batch mixer until the resulting concrete has been thoroughly mixed. The said concrete shall then be spread upon the surface of the roadbed prepared as herein prescribed and rammed until thoroughly compacted. The upper surface of said concrete foundation shall be parallel with and three and one-half ($3\frac{1}{2}$) inches below the upper surface of the finished pavement.

A binder course two (2) inches thick shall be laid upon said concrete foundation.

A wearing course one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) inches thick shall be laid upon said binder course.

The sand or limestone screenings used in making the mixture for the binder course and the sand used in making the mixture for the wearing course shall be clean, hard-grained, free from foreign matter, and so graded that all of said sand or limestone screenings can pass a four (4) mesh sieve and so that not more than six (6) per cent can be held on a ten (10) mesh sieve and so that not less than eight (8) per cent nor more than twenty-five (25) per cent can pass a ten (10) mesh sieve and be held on a forty (40) mesh sieve, and so that not less than thirty (30) per cent nor more than fifty-six (56) per cent can pass a forty (40) mesh sieve and be held on an eighty (80) mesh sieve, and so that not less than twenty (20) per cent nor more than forty-five (45) per cent can pass an eighty (80) mesh sieve.

The limestone or other stone equal thereto for binder mixture used in the mixture for the binder course shall be clean, broken, hard and durable, free from foreign matter and so graded that all can pass a ring of one and five-eighths ($1\frac{5}{8}$) inches inside diameter and ninety (90) per cent thereof can be held on a ring of one-fourth ($\frac{1}{4}$) inch inside diameter.

Levigated stone shall be construed to mean, for the purpose of this ordinance, levigated limestone, other levigated stone equivalent to levigated limestone for paving purposes, Portland cement or the finely divided mineral matter self contained in the refined native solid asphalt.

The refined asphalt used in making the asphalt cement for the mixture for the binder course and the mixture for the wearing course shall be obtained from crude, native solid asphalt, except as herein provided. If crude, native solid asphalt is used and requires refining, it shall be heated to a temperature of not over four hundred fifty (450) degrees Fahrenheit until all water and light oils have been driven off. At least ninety-eight and one-half ($98\frac{1}{2}$) per cent of the bitumen contained in the said refined asphalt which is soluble in carbon disulphide shall be soluble in cold carbon tetra chloride.

The refined asphalt used in making said asphalt cement may also be obtained by the straight reduction of asphaltic petroleum until the refined asphalt has a consistency not softer than seven (7) millimeters penetration and not harder than two and one-half ($2\frac{1}{2}$) millimeters penetration, the penetration being made with a No. 2 needle, weighted with one hundred (100) grams acting for five (5) seconds on the material at a temperature of seventy-seven (77) degrees Fahrenheit. Ninety-eight and one-half ($98\frac{1}{2}$) per cent of the said refined asphalt, so obtained, shall be soluble in cold carbon tetra chloride. When fifty (50) grams of said refined asphalt is heated in an uncovered tin box five and one-half ($5\frac{1}{2}$) centimeters in diameter and three and one-half ($3\frac{1}{2}$) centimeters in depth and is held at a temperature of three hundred twenty-five (325) degrees Fahrenheit for five (5) hours, then it shall have lost not over two (2) per cent by weight and the penetration of the residue thus obtained shall be not less than one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) of the penetration before such heating, said penetration being determined as herein prescribed. The said refined asphalt shall have a ductility of not less than sixty (60) centimeters at five (5) millimeters penetration determined as herein prescribed, said ductility being determined by elongating a briquette, Dow form, of said refined asphalt at a uniform rate of five (5) centimeters per minute at a temperature of seventy-seven (77) degrees Fahrenheit.

The flux used in making the asphalt cement shall be the residuum obtained by the straight reduction of crude petroleum, which flux shall be tested with and found suitable to the refined asphalt to be used. At least ninety-nine (99) per cent of said flux shall be soluble in cold carbon tetra chloride. The flux shall have a specific gravity of not less than ninety-four one-hundredths (.94) and not more than one and ten one-hundredths (1.10) at seventy-seven (77) degrees Fahrenheit as compared with water at seventy-seven (77) degrees Fahrenheit, and when tested in a Cleveland Open Cup Oil Tester, it shall not flash below a temperature of three hundred eighty (380) degrees Fahrenheit; and when fifty (50) grams of the said flux is heated in an uncovered tin box five and one-half ($5\frac{1}{2}$) centimeters in diameter and three and one-half ($3\frac{1}{2}$) centimeters in depth and is held at a temperature of three hundred twenty-five (325) degrees Fahrenheit for five (5) hours, then it shall not have lost over three (3) per cent by weight. The flux shall have a penetration of not less than twenty (20) millimeters, the penetration being made with a No. 2 needle weighted with fifty (50) grams acting for one (1) second, the material being tested at seventy-seven (77) degrees Fahrenheit.

The asphalt cement used in the binder course and in the wearing course shall be made from one (1) of said refined asphalts or from a mixture of any two (2) of said refined asphalts and said flux, if flux must be used, provided that the mixture of refined asphalts shall contain equal parts of each of the refined asphalts, and that the said asphalt cement shall contain not less than sixty (60) per cent by weight of refined asphalt or asphalts. The said asphalt cement shall be made by mixing and heating the said refined asphalt or asphalts and the said flux in a kettle at a temperature not lower than two hundred fifty (250) degrees Fahrenheit and not higher than three hundred fifty (350) degrees Fahrenheit. This mixture shall be thoroughly agitated when hot by steam, air or mechanical means until the said mixture has become homogeneous. The said asphalt cement shall have a penetration, determined as herein prescribed, of not less than two and one-half ($2\frac{1}{2}$) millimeters and not more than seven (7) millimeters. When fifty (50) grams of said asphalt cement is heated in an uncovered tin box five and one-half ($5\frac{1}{2}$) centimeters in diameter and three and one-half ($3\frac{1}{2}$) centimeters in depth and is held at a temperature of three hundred twenty-five (325) degrees Fahrenheit for five (5) hours, then it shall have lost not more than three (3) per cent by weight, and the penetration, determined as herein prescribed, shall be not less than one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) of the penetration before such heating. A briquette, Dow form, of the said asphalt cement of the consistency as used in this improvement shall have a ductility, determined as herein prescribed, of not less than twenty (20) centimeters.

The mixture for the binder course shall be made by heating and intimately mixing the said limestone, or other stone, the said sand or the said limestone screenings, and the said asphalt cement. The said mixture shall contain by weight five (5) per cent of bitumen soluble in carbon disulphide; twenty-five (25) per cent of said sand or the said limestone screenings and seventy (70) per cent of said limestone, or other stone. The said mixture shall be spread on the said concrete foundation, and while in a hot and plastic condition shall be rolled to an even surface with a self-propelled roller weighing not less than ten (10) tons. The said binder course after ultimate compression shall have a thickness of two (2) inches, and the upper surface shall be parallel with and one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) inches below the upper surface of the finished pavement.

The mixture for the wearing course shall be made by intimately mixing, while hot, the said sand, the said asphalt cement and the said levigated stone. The said sand and the said asphalt cement shall be heated separately to a temperature of not less than three hundred (300) degrees Fahrenheit, and the said levigated stone shall be intimately mixed with the said sand and then both shall be intimately mixed with the said asphalt cement. The said mixture shall contain, by weight, bitumen soluble in carbon disulphide, nine and five-tenths (.95) per cent; said levigated stone, fifteen and five-tenths (15.5) per cent; said sand which can pass an eighty (80) mesh sieve and cannot pass a two hundred (200) mesh sieve, twenty-five (25) per cent; said sand which can pass a forty (40) mesh sieve and cannot pass an eighty (80) mesh sieve, thirty-six (36) per cent; said sand which can pass a ten (10) mesh sieve and cannot pass a forty (40) mesh sieve, twelve (12) per cent; said sand which can pass a four (4) mesh sieve and cannot pass a ten (10) mesh sieve, two (2) per cent. The said mixture shall be spread at a temperature of not less than two hundred sixty (260) degrees Fahrenheit to an even surface and to such a depth that after ultimate compression it shall have a thickness of one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) inches. The wearing course, while still hot and plastic, shall be rolled with a self-propelled roller weighing not less than ten (10) tons. Natural hydraulic cement shall then be spread over the wearing course in such quantity that one (1) barrel of natural hydraulic cement shall cover one thousand (1,000) square yards of said wearing course. The said wearing course shall then be thoroughly compressed by rolling with a self-propelled roller weighing not less than ten (10) tons.

Said work to be done in a workmanlike manner under the superintendence of the Board of Local Improvements of the said City of Chicago.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to install a tank for the storage of any of the liquids mentioned in Section 2667 without first obtaining a permit so to do from the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention, as hereinafter provided.

(b) Any person, firm or corporation desiring to install a tank for the storage of any of the liquids mentioned in Section 2667 shall first obtain a permit so to do from the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention. The application for permit shall be made by the owner or his agent to the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention. Before issuing such permit the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall first inspect or cause to be inspected the location or site where such tank is to be installed, and if the site is satisfactory, the applicant shall pay to the City Collector a fee of ten dollars for each tank of the capacity of five hundred gallons or less, and an additional fee of twenty-five cents for each additional one hundred gallons capacity or fraction thereof. A fee of ten dollars shall be paid at the same time the written application for tank permit is filed and shall be forfeited to the City in case the site is not approved for permit. In determining the area to be considered in computing frontage consents, the distance shall be taken from the boundaries of all the land used by such oil storage and incidental thereto, including the driveways and enclosing fences, if any.

Permit shall not be assigned nor shall any right or privilege thereunder be transferred or assigned except by the written consent of the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

If the City Council approves the application it shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Compensation who shall issue the permit.

The applicant shall pay to the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention ten dollars ($10.00) for each tank of a capacity of five hundred (500) gallons or less. Such fee or fees shall be paid prior to the inspection aforesaid and shall cover the cost of inspection thereof.

The applicant for a permit for the installation of a gasoline pump used for the sale and distribution of any of the liquids of classes 1 and 2 shall pay to the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention a fee of five dollars ($5.00) for each pump. Such fee or fees shall be paid prior to the inspection of the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention and shall cover the cost of the inspection thereof. If the inspection is satisfactory the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall issue a certificate in which it shall be stated that all the necessary requirements provided in this ordinance have been complied with and shall forward the same with the written application to the City Council. If the City Council approves the application it shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Compensation who shall issue the permit.

Each application submitted for the location of a pump used for the sale and distribution of any of the liquids of classes 1 and 2 shall be accompanied by an additional fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) which is to be made payable to the City of Chicago and shall only cover the cost of verifying frontage consents as well as the signatures to the petition.

Such permit for tank or pump or both shall be for the period of one year subject to revocation by the Mayor upon recommendation of the Commissioner of the Department of Compensation at any time for cause.

No such tank or outfit shall be covered or used until the material, workmanship and installation shall be finally inspected and approved by the Division Fire Marshal in the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

(h) It shall be unlawful to install, maintain or operate any tank or tanks located under the surface of alleys or in the public space between the building line and the street curb, or pumps located between the building line and the street curb without first obtaining the written consent of the property owners representing sixty per cent (60%) of the total frontage in feet of each side of the street in the block where such tanks or pumps or both are to be located. No such tank or pump shall be installed under the surface of alleys or between the building line and the street curb, if the location thereof is within two hundred (200) feet of the nearest boundaries of any lot or plot of ground used for a school, hospital, church or theatre.

(i) The applicant for a permit to place a tank under the surface of any alley shall pave with concrete and smooth cement surface that portion of the alley covering such tank and also two (2) feet in each direction outside thereof. (j) If any person, firm or corporation now using any space underneath the surface of any alley or underneath the surface between the building line and the street curb for the maintenance or use of such tanks for the storage of any of the liquids of classes 1 or 2, or if any person, firm or corporation maintaining any gasoline pump or pumps upon the surface between the building line and the street curb, shall fail to take out a permit within thirty days after this ordinance shall take effect, the Commissioner of Compensation shall proceed to remove any such tank or pump so maintained or used and close the space heretofore occupied by the same.

(k) If any person, firm or corporation obtaining a permit hereunder shall at any time fail or neglect to comply with the terms of this ordinance, then such permit, as may have been issued, shall be revoked by the Mayor upon recommendation of the Commissioner of Compensation.

(l) Every applicant for a permit to locate a tank pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance underneath the surface of any alley or tank or tanks, pump or pumps, underneath or in the space between the building line and the curb shall file with his application a bond of a solvent and responsible surety company authorized to do business under the laws of this state as surety thereon in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) with sureties to be approved by the City Comptroller. Said bond and the liability of the sureties thereon shall be kept in force throughout the life of the grant of rights and privileges authorized under such permit, and if at any time during the period for which such privileges are granted such bond shall not be in full force then the said permit shall be subject to immediate revocation. If at any time, in the judgment of the City Comptroller said bond is not sufficient for any good cause, he may require the said applicant or permittee who filed the same to replace said bond with another good and sufficient bond, in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance.

(m) Whenever the City Comptroller shall be of the opinion that the sureties on any bond given for any permit issued hereunder have become insufficient, he shall notify the holder of such permit to give a new bond thereunder, and if such bond is not given, with sureties satisfactory to said City Comptroller within ten days after such notice is given, such permit shall be revoked by the Mayor upon recommendation of the City Comptroller.

REPORTS AND COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITY OFFICERS.

MAYOR.

Veto.

City Comptroller: Authority to Lease a Portion of Gage Farm to the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following veto message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, November 30, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval, an ordinance passed by your honorable body on November 18, 1931, and appearing on page 1239 of the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of that date, whereby certain property now occupied by the Chicago and Cook County School for Boys is to be transferred to the board of directors of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

My reason for vetoing said ordinance is that the ordinance is not sufficiently specific with respect to what is required from the board of directors of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium. By the terms of the ordinance as passed they are required to maintain the premises in first class condition but no provision is made for payment for same or for the person who is to determine whether the condition is satisfactory. I have therefore caused a substitute ordinance to be drafted which I submit herewith. This substitute ordinance provides that the jurisdiction and control of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium over said premises shall cease and determine in case the sanitarium fails to take official possession within thirty days or fails to open a branch sanitarium on said premises within one year or fails within two years to make an agreement for the payment of the fair value of the premises into the corporate fund to the satisfaction of the City Council, and the further provision is made that the City Comptroller shall be the one who will pass on the question of whether the buildings and equipment are being maintained in good order and repair.

I recommend that the vote by which the said ordinance passed by your honorable body was enacted be reconsidered and that the substitute ordinance which I send herewith be passed in lieu of the one that was enacted.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

A. J. CERMAK,
Mayor.

Alderman Clark moved to reconsider the vote by which said vetoed ordinance was passed.

The motion prevailed.

WHEREAS, The Board of Education, on June 24, 1931, decided upon the abandonment of said school, the name of which had since been changed to Chicago and Cook County School for Boys, and in accordance with said deed said property has now reverted and is now the property of the City of Chicago; and,

WHEREAS, The Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium has proposed to take over and occupy said premises and the buildings thereon as a branch sanitarium, and requires the period of two years for determining as to the suitability of said property for permanent use for sanitarium purposes, before making agreement for the reimbursement of the Corporate Fund for the fair value of said property:

Summary Report and Recommendations of the Mayor's Advisory Commission on Administrative Reorganization, Improvements and Economies in Various City Departments.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following communication, which was, together with the report transmitted therewith, referred to the Committee on Finance:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, December 1, 1931.

To the Honorable City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I am transmitting herewith copy of the summary report and recommendations of the Mayor's Advisory Commission on administrative reorganization, improvements and economies in the various city departments which are under the direct jurisdiction of the Mayor and the City Council.

This summary report and constructive recommendations have been developed as a result of the survey into the departmental organization, methods, services and costs and deal with the problems as outlined to the Mayor's Advisory Commission at the time of its appointment and as included in my inaugural message to your Honorable City Council. The recommendations cover specific problems which can be accomplished without legislative action. Details supporting most of these recommendations have been printed with the Department and Comptroller's estimates for the year 1932.

The recommendations as presented by the Commission have my approval and support. I shall insist upon the active and sustained co-operation by every department and bureau head.

I respectfully request your favorable consideration and early action on the same. I suggest that this report be referred to the Committee on Finance so that it may be considered in connection with the preparation of the 1932 budget.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

A. J. CERMAK,
Mayor.

MAYOR'S ADVISORY COMMISSION,
CHICAGO, November 27, 1931.

To the Honorable Anton J. Cermak, Mayor of Chicago:

Subject: Administrative Reorganization of Chicago Municipal Government.

DEAR SIR—The Mayor's Advisory Commission, appointed by your Honor with the concurrence of the City Council, held its first meeting on May 4, 1931. At that meeting the Commission elected an Executive Committee consisting of nine members from its full membership, to determine existing conditions and needs, to formulate a plan of work and procedure, to direct the necessary studies and to pass upon and submit to you constructive recommendations dealing with the various problems as outlined to the Commission at the time of its appointment and as included in your inaugural message to the City Council.

The Executive Committee has devoted itself for over six months to the analysis and consideration of the reviews and summary reports of conditions and needs together with constructive recommendations which have been developed as a result of administrative surveys into the departmental organization, methods, services and costs.

There is the imperative necessity that all means be taken immediately in the adoption of the recommendations for the elimination of extravagance and waste coming through overmanning and spoils employments, through confused distribution and duplication of certain services and diffused responsibility, through inadequate and antiquated administrative, purchasing and civil service practices, through lack of free and wide competition and control over contract costs and expenditures and other similar shortcomings. These are the chief causes of high taxes and for the increasing spread between the cost of government and the services received by citizens and taxpayers.

The local aggregate tax rates and taxes have been mounting with incredible rapidity while the ability of the taxpayers to meet the enlarged tax bills has decreased. That civic consciousness is aroused is best reflected by the organized demands on the part of taxpayers and citizens throughout the City and State for retrenchment and reduction in governmental expenditures. It is also reflected by the support in increasing numbers of those public officials who stand squarely for efficiency and economy through improved management and through elimination of waste in governmental administration.

Industry generally has been adjusting its expenditures on the basis of improved organization and management together with the lower price levels and increased labor efficiency. The cost of government and taxes must likewise be reduced through responsible and improved management, vigorous economy in operating and capital expenditures without sacrifice of efficiency in essential public services. The remedy for tax relief during this economic period lies in these fields more than in the shifting of the cost of government from one group of taxpayers to another through the creation of new sources of revenue or through the balancing of budgets by increases in taxes.

In order to accomplish immediate improvement and substantial economies without affecting the standards and efficiency of administration, the Executive Committee directed itself to the survey of specific administrative problems which can be accomplished without new legislation.

Your Executive Committee requested J. L. Jacobs to act as Secretary to the Committee and to organize and assign the necessary regular trained staff and special consultants and to direct the technical surveys and the preparation of reports and recommendations dealing with the specific problems.

These reports and recommendations affect every department and bureau of the City government except the departments under the jurisdiction of the Municipal Courts, the Election Commissioners, the Chicago Public Library, and the Board of Education. No opportunity has been afforded or authorization given to date to representatives of the Mayor's Advisory Commission to make the survey into the administrative organization, methods and practices in these municipal departments and offices. Recommendations on these departments for improvement and feasible reductions in expenditures cannot, therefore, be made at this time.

We have advised with you from time to time on the progress of the studies and installations and the unusual opportunity and imperative necessity for the prosecution and adoption of mature plans for departmental reorganization and co-ordination, for improved operating and fiscal systems and for real constructive economy in municipal expenditures.

The major changes recommended at this time are summarized as follows:

- (1) Elimination of unnecessary positions and employees.
- (2) Consolidation and reorganization of certain existing separate City departments and bureaus.
- (3) Co-ordination of related services and the elimination of unnecessary duplication.

(4) Establishment of a central purchasing system, providing for standardization of specifications, free and wide competition, control over purchasing, contracting, delivery and storing of supplies, materials and equipment.

(5) Simplification of administrative and office methods and practices, and utilization of modern labor saving devices.

(6) Improvement in examination methods, service ratings and employment plans to bring about more effective civil service administration.

(7) Reclassification of civil service positions to assure like pay for like work.

(8) Centralization of fiscal and accounting services under one department looking to effective financial control and simplified reporting on municipal services, costs and expenditures.

The plans and recommendations on the above have received the careful study of and have been approved by the Executive Committee. The plans and summary recommendations have also been submitted to the different department heads. Substantial agreement and acceptance of such plans for improvement and economies has been indicated by a number of the department heads, with such allowances as are expected to develop in the course of installation.

In pursuance with your suggestion, staff representatives of the Executive Committee have also conferred with the different department heads in connection with the preparation of their departmental estimates. In many cases such estimates have been revised along the general recommendations, and definite procedures are being developed to put the same into effect following approval by your Honor and concurrence by the City Council.

The above changes have been summarized in outline reports and in the recommendations of the Commission on the 1932 requirements which are printed in the departmental budget estimates to be submitted by the City Comptroller to the City Council on or before December 1, 1931. To effectuate some of the above changes, amendment of some of the existing municipal ordinances will be necessary. Drafts of such amendments to the ordinances have been prepared and are ready for presentation.

The basis of the changes and recommendations are omitted from this summary statement but will be set out under appropriate divisions of a complete report relating to the respective plans which can be accomplished without new legislation, as well as the proposals requiring changes in existing laws.

The changes which can be accomplished without new legislation point out substantial reductions in current operating expenditures with distinct improvement in present standards and the efficiency of essential municipal services. The plans recommended are of a conservative character and cover the more obvious and pressing changes and improvements. Further improvement and reduction in costs are possible with the adoption of thoroughgoing administration and businesslike operation of the recommended plans and such changes that can only be made after action by the General Assembly.

A total annual reduction of $22,150,000.00, or over 18 per cent of the present appropriations and expenditures for like purposes can be accomplished by action of the City Council.

Of the above grand annual total of $22,150,000.00, economies of at least $10,150,000.00 can be obtained through the reduction in annual appropriations and costs for operating, maintenance and general construction purposes. These are exclusive of the appropriations under debt service, fixed charges, public benefits and bond, special assessment and subway construction projects. The balance of approximately $12,000,000.00 in reduced annual costs are obtainable with careful planning, standardized specifications, free and wide competition and close supervision over contract expenditures financed by special assessment and bond issues.

The Executive Committee of the Mayor's Advisory Commission submits this summary report to your Honor with the recommendation that you give it your full support and transmit it to the City Council for favorable action.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) SEWELL L. AVERY,
Chairman, Mayor's Advisory Commission.

Estimates of Revenues and Expenditures for the Year 1932.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the City Comptroller, which was, together with the estimates submitted therewith, referred to the Committee on Finance:

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE,
CHICAGO, November 28, 1931.

Honorable Mayor and City Council, in Council Assembled:

In compliance with the requirements of the law, as indicated in Section 17 of Article 8 of Chapter 24, as amended, of the Statutes of the State of Illinois, the Comptroller submits herewith a report of his estimates of appropriations from the General Corporate Purposes Fund, the Water Fund, the Vehicle Tax Fund and the Judgment Tax Fund of the City of Chicago for the year 1932. Accompanying the Comptroller's estimates will be found a separate balance sheet of each fund, showing by classes the estimated current assets and liabilities thereof, as of the beginning of the year 1932, and the estimate of resources that will be available for appropriation from each of these funds is written thereon.

In addition to the above, the Comptroller also presents his estimates of appropriations and tax levies required for the payment of principal and interest on the City's bonded indebtedness during the year 1932, even though such items, in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution, have been levied at the time the bonds were issued.

Supplied herewith, in addition to the Comptroller's estimates, for most departments, are the estimates of the Mayor's Advisory Committee and the departmental estimates.

In those departments wherein we have received the Mayor's Advisory Committee's estimates too late to be included because it would cause further delay in the printing of the estimates, the Comptroller wishes to advise that such Mayor's Advisory Committee estimates will be transmitted to the Committee on Finance direct.

A summary of the Comptroller's estimates from the various funds, compared with resources available for appropriation during the year 1932 is as follows:

Comptroller's estimate of resources available for appropriation from the Corporate Purposes Fund for the year 1932	$58,190,409.81
Comptroller's estimate of appropriations from the Corporate Purposes Fund for the year 1932..	58,188,534.47
Comptroller's estimate of resources available for appropriation from the Water Fund for the year 1932.	15,354,379.92
Comptroller's estimate of appropriations from the Water Fund for the year 1932.....	13,057,490.60
Comptroller's estimate of resources available for appropriation from the Vehicle Tax Fund for the year 1932	6,213,020.12
Comptroller's estimate of appropriations from the Vehicle Tax Fund for the year 1932.....	6,213,020.12

The Comptroller desires to notify the City Council that the City of Chicago, so far as the finances of the Corporate Fund are concerned, has never been, in all the past years of its history, in the distressing condition in which we now find it, due principally to the chaos in regard to the collection of taxes. In fact, we are faced with a possibility of a default at this date (November 28th) in the payment of principal and interest on our bonded indebtedness, due January 1, 1932, something which has never been considered remotely possible in the past.

However, the Council is advised that the City Comptroller will take the most drastic measures possible to avoid any such occurrence, but it must be realized by the City Council and by all other public officials that unless immediate and serious consideration is given to the question of finances and the elimination of the causes, we cannot hope to defer much longer the day when the City must cease its governmental operations in rendering public service.

The Legislature of the State of Illinois is asked to take serious cognizance of this condition, for it reflects upon the credit of every other community in this State, as the various branches of municipal government throughout the State are operated under the same laws of the State. Therefore, if it is possible for this condition to exist in Cook County's branches of government, it is, of course, possible and quite probable that the same condition exists or can exist at any time in any other part of the State, since the same laws operate in all communities.

The Legislature may rest assured of the fact that it is not a question of legislation for Cook County alone, but that it is generally necessary, by legislation, to improve the credit of the entire State of Illinois and every community therein. This problem should be considered immediately by the Legislature in its present special session.

The Comptroller believes that business, financial and industrial leaders, as well as leaders of all parties in the State, should, in this particular emergency, cast aside any personal ambitions or desires and look to the solving of this question solely from the standpoint of the welfare of the entire commonwealth of the State. The most important phase of any financial legislation that may be contemplated is indicated as being centered upon matters that pertain to the re-establishment of the credit of all taxing communities within the State, not only in Cook County and its subdivisions.

The Comptroller believes that there is positively no time for delay in giving sincere and comprehensive consideration to this, the most important part of the financial problem.

For the information of the City Council, as to the basis on which the Comptroller arrives at his figure of 14 per cent reduction of valuations for 1931, the following tabulation is given:

ASSESSED VALUATIONS.

Real Estate.

1929	$2,830,506,884
20% reduction	566,101,377
1931	$2,264,405,507

Personal Property.

1929	696,442,655
Additional for 1931 on a/c mandamus suits and capital stock increases	150,000,000
Railroad property, 1929 and 1931	167,549,706
1931 estimates	$3,278,397,868
1929 estimates	3,694,498,706
Reduction	$ 416,100,838
$416,100,838 equals 14 plus per cent

In conclusion, the Comptroller desires to call attention of the City Council to the fact that the total appropriations indicated above as being recommended from the Corporate Fund for the year 1932 show a reduction of $9,364,428.24 below the total of appropriations made for the year 1931. This represents a 13.9 per cent reduction.

Attention is further called to one of the legal provisions of the Statutes in regard to budgets; namely, that deficiencies or unpaid liabilities of any fund carried over from a prior year must be appropriated for first, before an appropriation for any operating expense is made.

Complying with this requirement, it is readily seen, if his Honor, Mayor Cermak, had not enforced drastic and severe reductions in Corporate expenditures during the year 1931, which action created an estimated salvage of $6,952,079.76, that the 1932 budget would, of necessity, have had to be reduced $16,316,508.00 instead of the reduction of $9,364,428.24 indicated by the Comptroller's estimates for 1932. It is apparent that if it had been necessary to reduce the 1932 budget by $16,316,508.00 instead of $9,364,428.24, as actually shown, very serious and critical reductions would have been necessary in 1932 in police, fire, health, street lighting and street cleaning activities, and the total reductions in each of such departments would have been, of necessity, greatly in excess of even the severe reductions indicated in the accompanying budget.

Very truly yours,

(Signed)

M. S. SZYMCAK,
Comptroller.

The City Clerk presented a communication, submitted by the Commissioner of Compensation, transmitting an application of Harry Mefford for the temporary use of space in West 21st place between South Rockwell street and adjacent railroad right of way, which was Referred to the Committee on Local Industries, Streets and Alleys.

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

In the Matter of Increased Revenue to Be Obtained by Reason of Complaints Filed by the City in Connection with the Assessment of Real Estate.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the Corporation Counsel, which was ordered published and referred to the Committee on Finance:

DEPARTMENT OF LAW,
CHICAGO, November 20, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council.

GENTLEMEN—Now that the Board of Review has completed the tax books for 1930, I beg to advise you that upon complaints filed by the City of Chicago, in accordance with the sense of the resolution adopted by the City Council March 19, 1930, increases in individual assessments were made by the Board of Review amounting to $27,102,100 full value, and $10,027,780 assessed value. These increases in assessed values of property obtained upon complaints filed by the City, will amount to approximately $243,675 in tax money to be received by the City (exclusive of the amount to be received by the Board of Education) out of 1930 taxes.

During the week of April 1, 1930, I made an investigation of all buildings costing over $25,000, for which building permits had been issued by the City of Chicago during the years 1928 and 1929 and concerning which no final report of their completion had as yet been made to the Department of Buildings. Of such larger buildings I had photographs taken showing their status on or about April 1, 1930, which is the date fixed by law for the listing of real estate for assessment purposes.

When the Board of Assessors completed its assessment roll for 1930, I checked its assessments against the building permits which had been issued by the City of Chicago during 1928 and 1929 and found that in the case of certain improvements, including some very large buildings, no assessments whatsoever were made thereon by the Board of Assessors for 1930, notwithstanding that in my opinion such improvements should have been assessed.

Thereupon I filed formal complaints with the Board of Review asking that body to assess such improvements for 1930. Public hearings were held by the Board of Review on said complaints with the result that that body placed assessments upon all the properties upon which said complaints were filed by the City as follows:

*In the case of the building at Nos. 1511-1527 East 71st street, which was not assessed by the Board of Assessors for 1930, would state that while the Board of Review entered an order on our complaint that this building should be assessed for 1930 (full value $141,119, assessed value $48,514) yet through some inadvertency the Board of Review failed to enter such assessment on the assessment books, but I have requested that such building be back-taxed for 1930 when the 1931 books are before them.

I also beg to advise you that in the course of my investigation of the complaints filed with the Board of Review by property owners, of which there were many thousand, I found that complaints were filed to remove the following improvements from assessment altogether for 1930 on the ground that said improvements were not completed on April 1, 1930:

In all such cases I had during the week of April 1, 1930, investigated the buildings on which the owners filed complaints to have such improvements removed from assessment for 1930, and I, therefore, filed with the Board of Review photographs and/or information showing why such buildings should not be removed from assessment for 1930, a copy of our letter in the case of the board of trade building being attached herewith. None of such buildings I am pleased to advise you was removed from taxation by the Board of Review for 1930 upon the complaints filed by the owners thereof that such buildings were not completed April 1, 1930.

You are further advised that I also filed complaints with the Board of Review concerning the assessments made by the Board of Assessors for 1930 on certain estates of decedents. The Board of Review made increases in the assessments of such estates concerning which I filed complaints and information, amounting to $8,531,064 appraised value, and $3,156,494 equalized assessed value.

From the above it will be seen that the actual increases which I was able to obtain through the complaints filed with the Board of Review, as heretofore stated, amounted to $27,102,180 appraised value, and $10,027,700 equalized assessed value, which will result in a large increase in tax money to be received from 1930 taxes by the various tax levying bodies, the City's share of which (exclusive of the Board of Education) will be approximately $243,675.

IN RE BOARD OF REVIEW COMPLAINT 10275

Hon. Charles V. Barrett, Chairman, Board of Review of Cook County, County Building, Chicago:

DEAR SIR—In the above complaint, the statement is made that the Board of Trade Building should not be assessed for 1930 because it was not completed on April 1, 1930.

I beg to advise you that an investigation of this building was made by this department on April 2, 1930. At that time the building was under roof, and all the windows were in, although some interior work was still going on, but the building to the average person was substantially completed.

Many tenants moved into this building during April and May, 1930, and according to the official printed invitation issued by the Board of Trade for the opening of the building there were 118 tenants in it on May 16, 1930. The invitation gives the name of the several tenants including Quaker Oats Company, Allied Mills, etc.

I am enclosing herewith photograph of this building from the Chicago Tribune of March 24, 1930, showing the building as it then appeared, and a photograph taken by this department April 4, 1930.

If there should be any disposition to omit this building from taxation for 1930 because of statements made by the complainant, I respectfully request that I be permitted to present evidence in the matter showing that the building should be assessed for 1930.

Yours respectfully,

In the Matter of Amendment of the "Gas Tax Act" to Provide Funds for the Resurfacing and Repair of City Streets.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the Corporation Counsel, which was, together with the Bill transmitted therewith, referred to the Committee on Judiciary and State Legislation:

DEPARTMENT OF LAW,
CHICAGO, November 24, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—On July 30, 1931, your honorable body passed a resolution (Council Journal, page 874) in which request is made to include in the call for the extra session a proposed amendment to the Gas Tax Act to provide that one-third of the tax so collected be allotted to the City of Chicago to be used for the resurfacing and repair of City streets.

We have endeavored to draft a bill which would embody the desire of the City Council in this respect, but we find ourselves handicapped by a constitutional provision which will preclude the passage of any law that follows out the precise direction contained in said resolution. During the last session a bill was introduced known as House Bill No. 407 which undertook to distribute this fund between the state, counties, and cities and villages in the proportion indicated with authority for the cities and villages to use the fund for street paving and repairing purposes. There was grave doubt as to the constitutionality of such an act if it had been passed.

The gas tax is a tax imposed on the inhabitants of a municipality and if imposed for the purpose of improving City streets, it would come directly in conflict with the provisions of Section 10 of Article IX of the Constitution which says that:

"The General Assembly shall not impose taxes upon municipal corporations, or the inhabitants or property thereof, for corporate purposes."

In view of the said constitutional inhibition we believe the best that can be done is to provide for the distribution of one-third to cities and villages and limit its use to the improvement and repair of state highways within the limits or streets within the limits connecting with state highways. Having this in mind, we have prepared a bill to that effect of which we send you several copies herewith.

Yours truly,

First Assistant Corporation Counsel.

SUB-COMMITTEE ON CONSOLIDATION } AND UNIFICATION, }
CHICAGO, October 3, 1931. }

To the Committee on Efficiency, Reorganization and Consolidation of the City Council of the City of Chicago:

The Sub-Committee on Consolidation and Unification, which is considering the possibilities in unification of governmental activities in Chicago and the Chicago Metropolitan Area, submits with respect thereto, by way of preliminary report, that which follows for consideration and approval.

The expenditures of the principal local governments operating in Cook County approximated $142,000,000 in 1920 and $295,000,000 in 1929. Accurate information regarding current local governmental expenditures is not available just now but the appropriations for 1931 and estimates based thereon would seem to indicate that the total of the expenditures by all of the local governmental agencies operating in Cook County will exceed $300,000,000 during the present year. Local governmental expenditures have been increasing at a rate far exceeding the rates of increase in local population and local wealth. The result has been a load of taxation which has become most oppressive. So devastating has this burden become that, according to a report by the Treasurer of Cook County recently made, about a third of the real estate in the County having a value of some $3,000,000,000 has been placed on the books for sale because of the non-payment of 1929 taxes. It is beyond controversy that relief from this constantly increasing burden of taxation is essential. Consequently a tremendous decrease in the expenditures of the local governments is imperative.

Progress and the ever expanding activities of the Chicago region constantly compel new public improvements. These necessitate the public expenditure of huge sums of money. Expenditures in Chicago and the Chicago Metropolitan Area as follows:

- $10,000,000 for street lighting and traffic signals,
- $15,000,000 for air ports, landing fields and air facilities,
- $50,000,000 for public school buildings and public school facilities,
- $80,000,000 to satisfy the requirements of the decree entered by the United States Supreme Court in the Lake Level Case,
- $100,000,000 for water filtration and water supply,
- $225,000,000 for lake front development, parks, park extensions and recreational facilities, and
- $250,000,000 for superhighways, grade separations and various traffic facilities, appear to be eventual necessities which can not long be deferred. Obviously a tremendous increase in the expenditures of the local governments is inevitable.

These conflicting necessities requiring, at one and the same time, both a tremendous curtailment and an enormous expansion in local governmental expenditures, create a fiscal problem of crucial moment. Either an increased tax burden or the indefinite postponement of essential public improvements is the inevitable consequence of a failure to solve it. Those legislative expedients currently proposed to relieve the fiscal emergency which confronts the local governments will afford no solution for it. A reconstruction of the assessing and reviewing machinery will, at best, but expedite the imposition of taxes and insure their fairer distribution. A refunding of taxes about to be assessed will not avoid their ultimate payment. An imposition of new varieties of taxes will, at most, only serve to enlarge the tax base and to accomplish a more equitable distribution of the tax burden. The enactment of measures such as these may be both necessary and desirable but their enactment will leave this crucial fiscal problem untouched. Its solution can be accomplished only by colossal savings in the operations of the local governments.

Those colossal savings in the operations of the local governments on which the solution of this crucial fiscal problem is dependent are not readily accomplished. The local governmental structure itself is a serious impediment to their realization. Government has been piled on top of government in Chicago and the Chicago Metropolitan Area until there exists a mass and a mess of government which divides official responsibility and sometimes destroys it, under which it is possible for excessive expenditures by a few local governments to nullify every bit of the savings which the remainder of the local governments may effect and under which honesty and efficiency in every governmental activity are incapable of producing real economy. Maximum savings in the operations of the local governments are impossible under governmental conditions such as these. Simplification of the local governmental structure becomes, therefore, a fundamental necessity in the situation involved.

Not only is the simplification of the local governmental structure a fundamental necessity but possibilities for exceptional savings are inherent in it. Experts, whose conclusions are entitled to confidence, have estimated that the unification of all of the local governmental agencies operating in Chicago and Cook County would permit the accomplishment of a twenty per centum reduction in the cost of local government. Since these local governmental agencies expend in excess of $300,000,000 annually it would appear that, by their unification, savings in excess of $50,000,000 per year may be possible. Savings such as these would, obviously, permit a tremendous decrease in the expenditures of local government. Out of savings such as these it would be possible to absorb, without any increase in the tax burden, the expansion in expenditures which an extensive program of public improvements would entail. Savings as aforesaid would, in one year, be sufficient to enable the construction of a lake front landing field in Harbor District Number 3 and the acquisition and development of air ports and landing fields elsewhere in the Chicago Metropolitan Area adequate to meet the maximum requirements of air traffic in the Chicago region for the next half century. Savings at that rate would, over a five-year period, provide funds sufficient to extend Lincoln Park to the Wisconsin line and Jackson Park to the Indiana line. The aggregate of the savings in ten years on such a basis would cover the cost of the construction of a system of strategically located superhighways connecting the heart of Chicago with the hard roads which enter the City at its edge. The possibilities inherent in the simplification of the local governmental structure are enormous. Such simplification might not solve the crucial fiscal problem which the conflicting necessities of the local governments has created but it is probable that the solution of the problem will be impossible without it.

In simplifying the local governmental structure it is possible to proceed on a territorial basis. Consolidation of all of the local governmental agencies in the area involved would be both the more obvious and the more logical method of procedure. There are, however, elements in the situation which may render procedure along this line inexpedient. The limitation on the debt-incurring power imposed by the State constitution creates some very practical difficulties not readily overcome. The majority of the inhabitants of the territory immediately adjacent to Chicago are definitely opposed to consolidation with it. This stubborn determination of the communities suburban to Chicago to maintain local autonomy creates a barrier which, for the present at least, is insurmountable. There are, furthermore, a number of activities, metropolitan in scope, which require governmental treatment on a regional basis. Any hope of an early annexation to Cook County of substantial parts of the counties immediately surrounding it would appear to be but an idle dream. It would seem, therefore, that such simplification of the local governmental structure as may be opportune can best be accomplished if the process of simplification proceeds on a functional basis.

There are a number of activities which are metropolitan in character and of concern to the entire Chicago region. Conspicuous among these activities is traffic. Traffic moves to and from the heart of Chicago over city, park, village and state boundary lines without even noting their existence. Variety in regulation may confuse and hamper it but does not destroy the continuity of its movement. Super-highways, when built, will affect the development of extensive areas and facilitate the movement of traffic tremendous in volume and wide spread in its origins and destinations. The development of a comprehensive system of traffic facilities is exceedingly difficult under conflicting jurisdictions. The situation presented can be adequately met only by metropolitan treatment under a single authority which is regional in the extent of its jurisdiction.

That which is true in the case of traffic is true, likewise, in the case of several other activities. Crime is metropolitan in its operations. It is impossible to deal adequately with the problems of health, sanitation and drainage on a city or village basis. The development of major recreational facilities anywhere in the Chicago region is a matter of common interest to all of those who reside within it. Lake, harbor and waterway development involves benefits which are not local to Chicago. Air traffic is a matter of something more than local concern. Every one of these activities transcends both Chicago and Cook County in its operations and concerns. Divided authority is incapable of dealing satisfactorily with any one of them. The requirements of the situation with respect to these activities clearly demand their treatment, also, by a single authority with a jurisdiction co-extensive with the region involved.

Because of the foregoing considerations the Subcommittee on Consolidation and Unification, reporting in this instance in a preliminary way, suggests and recommends:

That a local governmental authority having a territorial jurisdiction as follows:

A territorial jurisdiction co-extensive with Cook County and covering, in addition, the waters of and the submerged lands under that part of Lake Michigan lying within Illinois and such additional territory in Illinois lying within thirty miles from the corporate limits of Chicago as may from time to time, by the referendum vote of the inhabitants thereof, be added thereto, and to be known as

or by some similar name be created and that the said local governmental authority be vested with power and authority

1. To protect the public health and to provide a metropolitan health service for such protection,
2. To protect life and property and to provide a metropolitan police force for such protection,

3. To provide for drainage and the disposal of sewage and waste and to provide and maintain the principal instrumentalities required for such drainage and disposal,

4. To regulate the movement of vehicular traffic, to determine the location, design and character of traffic signs and signals, to supervise the operation of traffic signals and to construct and maintain arterial highways, super-highways, grade separations and all highways in which the principle of grade separation is employed,

5. To regulate air traffic and to provide and maintain air ports and landing fields,

6. To regulate lake traffic, river traffic, lake use and river use and to provide and maintain harbors, wharves, docks, light houses and breakwaters,

7. To reclaim, develop, sell and otherwise dispose of the submerged lands in Lake Michigan now belonging to the State of Illinois,

8. To handle lake front development and provide and maintain parks, forest preserves and connecting boulevards and parkways, and

9. To conduct and carry on any local governmental activity which may, by referendum vote of the inhabitants of the local governmental agency involved, be transferred to it upon the terms and conditions acceptable to it, within the area subject to its jurisdiction and that such of the properties, powers and rights of the local governmental agencies now operating in the Chicago Metropolitan Area as the said local governmental authority may require in order to enable it to deal with the activities aforesaid on a metropolitan basis be transferred to it and that it be empowered, further, with power and authority

1. To assume and pay the indebtedness of the local governmental agencies whose activities are taken over by it as an incident to its organization and such other indebtednesses of local governmental agencies as it may determine to assume as an incident to its activities,

2. To borrow money and, in that connection, issue its bonds maturing in not more than twenty years in such amounts as may be lawful,

3. To levy such taxes as may be required for its operations, and

4. To determine the terms and conditions under which the local governments operating in the area subject to its jurisdiction may issue bonds, and that the government and control of the said local governmental authority be vested in a commission to consist of the Mayor of the City of Chicago and the President of the Commissioners of Cook County as members ex-officio and of five other members as follows:

1. Two to be residents of that part of the area subject to its jurisdiction which lies outside of Chicago, and

2. Three to be residents of the City of Chicago, to be elected, for a term of four years, by the duly qualified electors of the entire area subject to its jurisdiction; and

That such legislation as may be required to accomplish the creation of the said local governmental authority be drafted at once and be submitted to the General Assembly at the earliest possible opportunity.

That which is proposed will not accomplish that complete unification of local governmental agencies operating in Chicago and the Chicago Metropolitan Area which may be desirable. The creation of the local governmental authority proposed, however, will

1. Concentrate the more important of the metropolitan activities under a single authority with ample jurisdiction,
2. Afford a sufficient concentration of major local governmental activities to permit the accomplishment of tremendous savings,
3. Permit community planning on a metropolitan and regional basis and facilitate metropolitan and regional development under home rule auspices, and
4. Provide a metropolitan governmental agency capable of expanding the number and scope of its activities within the limits of the Chicago Metropolitan Area when and as it may be desirable.

The realization of these benefits will constitute progress. The ultimate which is desirable can not be achieved now or by a single legislative operation. A start must first be made somewhere and somehow. The processes of evolution will, in due course, accomplish the remainder.

The problem involved is, in its fundamentals, but a part of a greater problem of state-wide concern. Superfluous government abounds everywhere in Illinois. The State is burdened with some fifteen thousand and eight hundred and fifty-eight local governments. Revenues absorbed in the operations of superfluous government anywhere in Illinois are not available to the State for expenditure elsewhere. The fiscal problems of Illinois and the local governments operating within its limits are inseparable. The simplification of local government everywhere in Illinois is an eventual necessity and a matter of common interest to the entire State. Simplification of local government in the Chicago region may point the way.

There is urgent need for early action in this matter. Nothing is to be gained by delay. Delay but serves to postpone effective endeavors to solve a crucial fiscal problem which can not be solved too soon. A resolution which the City Council adopted on July 20, 1931, recommended the inclusion of the matter of the consolidation of local governments in the call for the special session of the General Assembly which it is anticipated the Governor will issue some time this month. The creation of the local governmental authority recommended could be accomplished at this special session. The legislation creating this local governmental authority could be made effective so as to permit the selection of the candidates for the offices of the elective members of the commission proposed in the next primary election and the election of such members at the next general election. This should be the objective.

There is no good reason why this objective may not be realized.

The motion prevailed.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON "OPEN AIR" OPERA.

Proposed Rehabilitation of the Clarendon Beach Property for Open-air Musical Productions; Etc.

The Special Committee on "Open-Air" Opera submitted the following report, which was, on motion of Alderman Arvey, ordered published and referred to the Committee on Finance:

COMMITTEE FOR CO-OPERATION WITH THE CHICAGO SUMMER OPERA ASSOCIATION, INC.

The above-mentioned committee has met several times and in going through the entire proposition found that the resolution brought in and passed on October 21, 1931, page 1101, of the Journal of the Proceedings, regarding cultural recreation for the citizens of Chicago was a greatly needed want.

The committee was furnished by Mr. Rex, Municipal Reference Librarian, with data of several other cities which have been operating open air concerts and operas for the masses during the summer time and they found that without exception it is a continued success and not one of the towns enumerated below suffered a loss during the operation to supply healthy outdoor musical entertainment for the masses.

It includes cities such as Boston, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Washington, Rochester, New York, Minneapolis, Detroit, San Francisco, St. Louis, Jersey City, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Newark, Baltimore, New York City, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, New Orleans, Cleveland and Cincinnati. These towns became so enthused over civic music productions that they are improving every year the productions, and their attendance is getting larger to the extent that the smaller towns near those cities mentioned above are running excursion trains for the purpose of bringing people to their civic music entertainments.

We have found it necessary to stress St. Louis for several reasons: It is hardly fair for Chicago to indulge in the painful sight of seeing a sign right across from our own civic opera building during last summer which read "Get a bus to St. Louis which brings you direct to the door of the open air opera in St. Louis"; Chicago being bereft of it mostly because it has no proper place in the City proper to produce such an enterprise. It is true we have Ravinia which is twenty-nine miles from the City Hall and it is a proposition for classes but not for the great mass of people who toil the entire day and who find it difficult to get some healthy entertainment for their families after working hours, within reach of a car ride and within reach of their purse.

St. Louis this year has taken in over $460,488.00 for admissions, and that was not all because they are giving away every night one thousand tickets to the indigent and the blind, and yet are making their enterprise a paying affair. The total attendance, excluding free seats, was 503,932.

The committee in studying the proper place for such an enterprise have come to the happy conclusion that the present site of Clarendon Beach is just the proper place at present for that purpose.

Clarendon Beach, as you all know, is at present a liability to the City. Mr. Wright, who is in direct charge of the beach building, has recently stated in answer to a letter from Alderman Arvey that it costs the City of Chicago to operate and to maintain the building of the beach in its present status close to $22,000 a year, while the proposition as made to this committee by the Chicago Summer Grand Opera Association would bring in a great revenue to the coffers of the City.

The above organization is not organized for any profit. It simply proposes for this City the same facilities enjoyed by the general public in the cities mentioned above. Whatever profit may be derived will be spent to perpetuate and improve the institution so that the City of Chicago will in a short time outdo all the other cities mentioned above.

In addition thereto the plan as drawn and submitted herewith for the rehabilitation of the Clarendon Beach building and the adjacent space would create a summer convention hall capable of filling a 15,000 seating capacity under a roof open on the sides during the warm months and could be used by those bringing conventions in the summer to the City of Chicago, where they are now going to other cities furnishing them such facilities.

The present building to be repaired in such a manner where the place formerly occupied for lockers and dressing rooms will be made over into space suitable for exhibitors attending conventions.

The territory wherein Clarendon Beach is located has the finest hotels in the City, both to the north and south of it, and has the best transportation in the City, having Irving Park boulevard, Montrose and Lawrence avenues as east and west arteries. The Broadway car line, the north side "L" and the buses as south and north arteries, and anyone living anywhere in the metropolitan area of Chicago could reach that spot in half an hour.

The Chicago Summer Opera Company, Incorporated, proposes to erect an open air auditorium stage, and the building in the front is to be repaired suitable for the purpose mentioned above, and only expects to use it twelve weeks, beginning sometime in June of every year. The balance of the 38 weeks will be turned over to the City of Chicago for the purpose it sees fit to use it for, where the City will gain an income from conventions, contests, etc., to be held there.

The Chicago Summer Opera Association only requests the right to maintain its general offices there and use a certain amount of space for warehousing purposes to hold scenery and general accoutrements, which will in no way interfere with the City's time and the City's activities there.

This committee has been informed that this plan of having open air conventions and operas and general outdoor entertainment under a roof has been highly endorsed by the Illinois Federation of Labor through its officers, Mr. John Fitzpatrick, E. N. Nockels, and Victor Olander. Our own County Recorder, Mr. Clayton F. Smith, is greatly interested in the plan and so is Judge Frank M. Padden. Also several prominent members of the Women's Civic Club. It is also being actively agitated by Miss Harriet Vittum, who is famous for her settlement work among the poor classes. Also Dr. Graham Taylor, the dean of Chicago journalists, who wrote special articles on that subject as early as August, 1930. Professor Charles E. Merriam, economist of the University of Chicago, has endorsed it heartily as has also Thomas J. Bowler, President of the Sanitary District of Chicago, and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is very much in favor of it.

The fact is that Chicago which is usually ahead in everything else lacks in this particular instance. The Chicago Summer Grand Opera Association has plans where it is willing to put up this improvement without a cent of cost to the City of Chicago and dedicate their part of the expense of this improvement to the City of Chicago. The committee also having in view to eventually improve the front part of the premises with a City college as has been proposed by certain aldermen and shown on the attached sketch, a possibility where such alterations could be made without interfering with the auditorium and theatre proper.

Chicago is just about a year or two away from the completion of the World's Fair, and while the World's Fair Committee is possibly having in mind also the question of music, yet that would be only for a six-month period, while this plan as the committee sees it is going to be an everlasting and outstanding monument to the restoration of the good name of Chicago, and in our opinion it will be an everlasting appreciation by Chicagoans and those that will come to visit us, to the entire Council and His Honor, the Mayor, for acting favorably on this proposition.

Respectfully submitted.

The following is said ordinance as passed:

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Chicago:

SECTION 1. That permission and authority be and the same are hereby given and granted to The University of Chicago, a corporation, its successors and assigns, to maintain and use as now constructed an underground electric service system under and across University avenue at a point two hundred ninety (290) feet south of the south line of East 57th street; said system consisting of a conduit eight (8) inches in height by twelve (12) inches in width, with a manhole in the parkway on both sides of University avenue at said location. WHEREAS, Grains and grapes, through the alchemy of nature, have from time immemorial inspired the gifted, warmed the cheery, solaced the despondent and healed the sick;

WHEREAS, Man has an inherent right to the blessings of nature as expounded in the Scriptures, particularly in the Divine example set at the marriage feast of Cana, the caution of St. Timothy, "Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities", and the thanksgiving of Noah at the happy landing of the ark;

WHEREAS, In heeding these teachings the Carthusian monks in their simple, saintly way and to the glory of their Maker have given to the world the divine liqueur named after the abbey at Chartreuse and, in like manner, the goodly Benedictines have commemorated the name of their founder, St. Benedict;

WHEREAS, There has been visited upon us an affliction robbing us of our right to these and other beverages, in the grafting of an iniquitous law on the constitution of our fathers, known as the Eighteenth Amendment;

WHEREAS, The amendment has added another horseman to the four riders of the Apocalypse, armed with the four-bladed sword of poison, extortion, rapine and murder;

WHEREAS, The amendment has brought forth a spawn of conflicting laws to work a deluge of bewilderment so that a citizen may drink of the products of nature if the fruits ferment in his home, but may not make purchases of the warming product, under pain of being branded a felon;

WHEREAS, In the enforcement of the amendment, despised by the vast majority of the citizens of this commonwealth, a plague has descended upon us in the persons of enforcement agents, whose corruptions and crimes under a cloak of justice, have brought us shame throughout the world and sorrow at home;

WHEREAS, In our city a citizen, who had offered his life toward the preservation of his country during the war, was arrested in open court as a law violator when he asked leniency for his janitor, who had employed nature in the preparation of cups of cheer for a gathering of veterans;

WHEREAS, In Santa Monica, Cal., another citizen, but no common citizen, was apprehended beating a discreet retreat from a suspected resort with nineteen pints of spirituous liquor in a sack;

WHEREAS, When this citizen came before the bar of justice for trial, the arresting agents were reported to be busily engaged elsewhere in the performance of their duty;

The Committee took as the basis of its discussion the Report of the Executive Committee of the Governor's Tax Conference, but made outside independent studies upon a number of additional subjects. This report covers all the matters upon which the Committee took definite action.

CAUSES

When we come to seek remedies, it is always well to bear in mind causes. A few of the things which have brought upon us the prevailing condition of tax distress may appropriately be mentioned here. The one item that without doubt opened the flood-gates and precipitated the deluge was the reassessment ordered by the State Tax Commission in 1928. The report of the Governor's Tax Conference says at the outset, "The tax reassessment has depleted local treasuries and has caused inability to meet payrolls". The professed object was, after many years of illegal taxation, to provide a scientific assessment of property. The magnitude of this undertaking, the long time necessary to complete it, its enormous expense which added to the burden of the taxpayer, already too heavy, the great delay in tax collection resulting in the effort to collect two years' taxes in one, the successful effort of large interests to shift the tax weight to other shoulders, the launching of this enterprise at a peak period of inflation and the attempt to gather in the taxes at a time of dire economic depression and unemployment during which incomes and values had woefully decreased and many equities had entirely been wiped out, all combined to make the price, the highest, the most grievous ever paid by a people for a scientific assessment. Coupled with this in 1928 were the heavy expenditures of local municipalities, the later failure of scores of banks in which citizens had deposited their money with which to pay taxes, and the later taxpayers strike, all contributed to produce an intolerable condition of public distress.

The taxing machinery should be well removed from selfish political influence and manipulation by big interests and should be able to function promptly and efficiently.

Governor Emmerson, in his remarks at the opening of the Tax Conference, said that the main problem is immediate relief under the restrictions imposed by the Constitution, and that some semblance of equality in taxation must be brought about. This, he stated, requires the best thought and complete co-operation of all elements of our citizenry. We approve this.

THE PROGRAM

As we conceive the problem before us, it embodies not only immediate relief, but the laying of the foundation of a system which will prevent the recurrence of a condition and situation such as now confronts us.

(A) Measures Designed to Restore Credit and Create Efficiency.

We adopt the plan of the Executive Committee of the Governor's Tax Conference to supplant the present Board of Assessors and Board of Review with a County Assessor who shall be solely responsible for the spreading of the entire assessment upon taxable property. Also, that there shall be two other members known as Reviewers who, with the Assessor, shall constitute a Board of Assessment and Revision.

We reject the proposal that these three officials shall be appointed by the President of the County Board by and with the consent of the County Commissioners, and in lieu thereof propose that they shall be selected by civil service examination; that a Civil Service Board which shall make their selection shall consist of the County Judge of Cook County, Chairman, the Mayor of the City of Chicago and the President of the County Board. All subordinates of the County Assessor shall be selected by civil service examination conducted by the County Civil Service Commission for classes of service as directed and indicated by the County Assessor.

We recommend that a Civil Service Law patterned after the Civil Service Act under which the City of Chicago now operates, be passed by the General Assembly, to govern the Civil Service requirements above set forth. By reason of the selection of the Board of Assessment and Revision by high officials, elected at different times, responsible to the voters of the County and the City, and by the further selection of all subordinates by Civil Service Examination, we deem that selfish political influence and expediency and improper pressure by big interests in taxation matters would be materially minimized.

(b) The Corollary Bill set forth at the top of page 15 of the Executive Committee's Report, giving the State Tax Commission authority to remove local assessing and reviewing officials for cause, we disapprove.

The measure described at the bottom of page 15 and on page 16 of the Executive Committee's Report, a Bill to authorize Municipalities in Cook County to issue full faith and credit bonds maturing in not to exceed seven years for the purpose of anticipating not more than 85% of certain 1929 and 1930 taxes, the collection of which has been unduly delayed as a result of the 1928 assesment, we approve.

It is estimated that the maximum amount of such bonds to be issued by the City of Chicago and the County of Cook will not exceed $44,000,000.00. This measure is designed to clear up the situation now existing as to outstanding unpaid taxes of 1929 and the taxes of 1930 which may not be paid when the 1930 taxes are placed in collection.

The Bill described and set forth on page 17 of the Executive Committee's Report as a Bill to Amend an Act Concerning Municipal Funds assessed to make anticipation tax warrants held by Municipal Funds a secondary lien, and to make such warrants sold to the public a prior lien on the tax levies against which they are issued, we approve.

This Bill applies only in Cook County and is designed to aid in restoring credit by giving banks and other holders of tax anticipation warrants a priority over the idle funds accounts chiefly at the City of Chicago which have been invested in tax anticipation warrants of the City and of the Board of Education for the year 1930.

The Bill described at the bottom of page 17 of the Executive Committee's Report to legalize tax anticipation warrants issued by any municipal corporation and authorize their payment either from proceeds of taxes to anticipate which they were issued, or from any available resources, we approve.

This applies only to Cook County, and its purpose is chiefly to make provision for the fiscal situation in outlying school districts and municipalities. It is a measure to validate tax warrants issued.

The Bill to authorize any municipal corporation to issue refunding bonds for purposes of paying principal and/or interest where taxes levied therefor are not received in time for payment at maturity, as set forth on page 18 of the Executive Committee's Report, we approve, except that we do not approve the provision for a referendum upon this Bill. This measure is intended to provide against defaults in outstanding bond issues due to delay in tax collections, and to protect the public from danger of cumulative bond issues therefor.

The Bill to authorize school districts of less than 150,000 population in counties where tax collections have been delayed due to a reassessment of real property, to issue bonds for the payment of legal claims and for payment of orders issued for teachers' wages and to levy taxes to pay the principal and interest of such bonds as set forth on pages 18 and 19 of the Committee's Report, we approve, with the exception that we do not approve the referendum provision attached thereto. This is a Bill to provide for a situation in many of the outlying school districts of Cook County where schools cannot be maintained for varying portions of the balance of the school year and school teachers' salaries cannot be met unless methods of financing orders for teachers' salaries and other legal claims are provided.

(B) Bills to Provide Relief for Real Estate Taxpayers by Provision of New Revenues.

(a) The first of these measures is discussed and set forth on pages 19 to 23 of the Executive Committee's Report. It is a bill for a graduated income tax against persons, and it is estimated that it will produce a revenue of at least $30,000,000.00 per year. It is the intention of the Executive Committee of the Governor's Tax Conference that the new revenues produced by such a bill shall be applied to the reduction and abatement of property taxes by providing first for replacement of taxes now levied on property for the State Distributive School Fund; second, for an equitable distribution of the remainder between Cook County and the rest of the State, and third, for distribution among the Elementary School Districts within counties. We approve this method of distribution. The chief features of the bill are as follows:

(1) Exemption:

Single persons	$1,000.00
Married couples	2,000.00
Children under 18 years and other dependents, each	200.00

A filing fee of $2.00 to be paid by every single person with a net income of $1,000.00 or more, and by married couples with a net income of $2,000.00 or more.

(2) Rates on Taxable Income:

1% on $1,000.00 or less;
2% on $1,000.00 to $4,000.00;
3% on $4,000.00 to $9,000.00;

4% on $9,000.00 to $16,000.00;
5% on $16,000.00 to $25,000.00;
6% on all net income above $25,000.00.

(3) Deductions and Off-sets:

The usual deductions are allowed from gross income in determining net income. In addition there may be credited against the tax computed on net income the amount of taxes paid or accrued which have been imposed by State or Local Governments in Illinois, but not taxes of a character to increase the value of the property assessed. The amount of such credit shall not exceed that proportion of the computed tax which the net income derived from the tax-paying property bears to the total net income. Owners of their homes are allowed a credit against computed tax on net income and taxes paid on such homes not exceeding in amount $100.00.

(4) Payments to be made in quarterly installments beginning April 15, 1933.

We approve the principle of an Income Tax Law, but recommend (1) that corporations be included in its provisions, as well as natural persons; (2) that additional higher rates and additional higher brackets be provided for, and (3) that in order to make adequate reduction of the real estate burden, the income tax be supplemented by a sales tax on certain classes of luxuries and amusements. The sales tax is recommended in view of the doubt that exists as to the Constitutionality of an Income Tax and for the further purpose of giving adequate real estate tax relief.

The 20% sales tax recommended by the Executive Committee on tobacco and tobacco products at pages 23 and 24 of the Report, which it is estimated will produce a revenue of approximately $18,000,000.00 annually, we do not recommend, for the reason, first, that we believe it amounts to a discrimination against a single class of consumers, and second, because we do not believe that it will alone produce sufficient revenues to provide adequate real estate tax relief. In lieu thereof, we recommend a sales tax upon certain articles and products shown below. The amount of sales, the proposed rate of taxation and the estimated tax based upon reports of retail sales at Chicago, Illinois, in 1926, are shown in tabular form as follows:

	Sales	Proposed Rate	Est. Tax

It is to be further observed that the items of taxation included in the above list for sales tax do not include the fundamental necessities of life, such as food, clothing and shelter and the various things that contribute thereto, and some further advantages of a sales tax over a tax upon real property are (a) that while real property is sold or forfeited if the owner does not pay the tax, in the case of a sales tax, the purchaser may possibly manage without buying the article, or at least be able to get along with buying a smaller quantity, and (b), that ordinarily a sales tax is paid in small amounts or at long intervals, while the real property tax must be paid at stated times in relatively large amounts or installments. It is suggested that this sales tax be enacted only as a temporary expedient until such time as it is possible to amend the Constitution and provide for the taxation of both real and personal property by classes. The public should realize that the present struggle is not one that can be ended within the course of a few weeks or a few months. It must be continued for a number of years with no let-up, but rather with increased study and energy.

We approve the bill set forth on pages 24 and 25 of the Executive Committee's Report providing for additional revenues by imposing graduated fees within the higher existing classifications of heavy motor vehicles.

We approve the six bills set forth on pages 25 to 28, inclusive, for the administration of the income tax law, and in lieu of the tobacco tax law a broader sales tax, and to provide for the allocation of funds from the foregoing revenue sources into the public school fund in abatement of property taxes. These bills in the main provide for such amendments and additions to present law as are deemed necessary for the administration of the laws producing new sources of revenue. Bill No. 2 of this group appropriates $450,000.00 for such administration.

At pages 28 to 31 of the Executive Committee's Report the question of accomplishing a more adequate assessment of personal property is discussed, and the Executive Committee of the Governor's Tax Conference undertakes to provide for such more adequate assessment of personal property by a bill requiring that upon the filing in the office of the Secretary of State of an application for certificate of registration of a motor vehicle, there shall be attached to such application a receipt of the County Collector in the County from which the application is made showing payment of personal property taxes upon the assessed valuation of the vehicle, or an affidavit (in the case of the vehicle purchased subsequent to April 1st of the preceding year) showing that the vehicle, when purchased, had not been used, or, if used, the personal property tax thereon had been paid, or the vehicle scheduled by the former owner.

It is both the hope and the intent of the proposers of this legislation that this would be a means of compelling persons to schedule more fully their personal property, and by that means, an increase in taxation of personal property would result.

We do not approve this measure. Among some of the reasons urged in the discussion upon it were that the charges against automobiles and their operation at the present time, including the State Registration fee, the City License fee and the gasoline tax already constitute a considerable charge and tax upon automobiles and their operation, and in lieu thereof, this Committee has included automobiles, trucks, tractors and automobile parts and accessories in the sales tax above set forth.

In addition to what has been proposed by the Executive Committee, we recommend that to further carry out the object of relieving real estate from the unwarranted load of taxation, the Motor Fuel Law be so amended as to provide that the whole of the 3c gasoline tax, when collected, shall for a period of three years be turned over to the several counties from which it came, and placed in their general corporate fund. This would relieve to that extent the levying by said counties of a tax for roads, bridges, institutions and other county needs. We believe that such a change in the present law would give Cook County relief to the extent of about $15,000,000.00 in 1932.

Our county, and the state at large, is now well taken care of in the matter of paved highways. Necessary connections or additions for several years can be met by the State Registry and other funds and the help of City Vehicle Taxes. Anything further would be a luxury which the taxpayers are not now in a position to pay for. For this reason, we believe that the 3c gas tax should be diverted from road building and applied to general county expenses.

(C) Measures Designed to Reduce Public Expenditures.

The one big outstanding essential necessary not only to restore public faith and public credit, but to provide relief to taxpayers, is reduction in the cost of administering government. If this be not provided, all other efforts will fall far short of achieving real beneficial results. Two courses may be followed to accomplish this purpose—first, some measurable relief can be obtained by practicing in public offices the most rigid economy. Second, the elimination of the duplication of work of various public agencies can in time be brought about by organizing the entire community on a metropolitan district basis. There are 419 separate taxing bodies in Cook County alone. If these were consolidated and their essential functions co-ordinated, it would be possible to get satisfactory public service at far less cost.

At page 34 of the Executive Committee's Report, reference is made to a bill to keep the tax levy of The Sanitary District of Chicago within the limits of its budget. It is explained that the provisions of this bill will place the Sanitary District under the same type of budgetary legislation as controls the City, Board of Education, Cook County and some other taxing bodies, that is, limiting the estimate of taxes to the last known valuation and the then existing rate, and requiring that the levy for taxes shall not exceed the amount so estimated.

The two Public Expenditure Commissions as set forth at page 33 of the Executive Committee's Report, one for Cook County, to be appointed by the County Judge, and one for the balance of the State, to be set up in the State Department of Finance, we do not approve. This is not an economy measure, is unnecessary and contrary to home rule.

(D) Measures Calculated to Provide Relief to the Local Municipalities in Emergency.

The bill set forth on pages 37 and 38 of the Executive Committee's Report, to authorize municipal corporations in Cook County to issue bonds in anticipation of certain tax collections specially applicable to 1929 taxes, the collection of which has been delayed by the 1928 assessment of real estate, and to 1930 taxes, the payment of which would be deferred under the plan for installments proposed by the Executive Committee, we approve. Such bonds would mature in not to exceed seven years, and the amount thereof would be limited to 85% of such taxes as extended upon the Collector's warrants. Such bonds, and the interest thereon would be paid largely, if not entirely from collections of the delayed or deferred taxes in anticipation of which they were issued. The proceeds of these bonds would be used, first, to retire any tax warrants previously issued in anticipation of the collection of such taxes, and thereafter for the payment of expenses for which such taxes were levied. The essential purpose would be, first, to enable the municipality immediately to retire overdue tax warrants, and thereby to protect its credit, and secondly, to provide cash with which to meet necessary current expenses. This measure has been heretofore referred to, and it is estimated that the amount of such bonds necessary would not exceed $44,000,000.00.

The preceding bill is to be accompanied by a bill for an act to amend certain sections of the Revenue Act of 1872. This bill would provide for the payment of 1930 taxes in Cook County in six installments at the option of the property owner. The first installment which would be payable in February, 1932, would include all State taxes, all taxes for the payment of bond principal and interest, and all taxes for school purposes. These taxes would aggregate approximately 50 to 55% of the entire 1930 tax bill. The remaining taxes constituting between 45 and 50% of the tax bill would be payable in five equal annual installments beginning February 1, 1933. Deferred installments would bear interest from February, 1932, until paid, at 6% per annum, but the taxpayer would have the privilege of paying any or all of the deferred tax installments at any time, thereby terminating the interest charge.

In addition to the provisions for installment payments of the 1930 taxes, this bill would contain a series of provisions designed to make fully effective the Act passed at the last General Assembly, to provide for the semi-annual payment of taxes beginning with the year 1931. The amendments contained in the bill are designed further to restore public credit by remedying certain abuses now existing in connection with tax collections, as follows: (a) A taxpayer who desires to object to any part of his tax would be required to pay under protest the amount in dispute. If upon hearing of his objections, the County Court decided in his favor, the County Collector would refund to him the amount paid under protest, or so much thereof as the Court allowed him. Otherwise, the amount paid under protest would be paid over to the proper taxing authorities. (b) In cases where injunctions are issued restraining the County Collector from advertising delinquent property for sale, or from proceeding to obtain judgment and order of sale, or from selling such property, and subsequently such injunctions are dissolved; and in cases where objections are filed in the County Court, upon application for order of sale and such objections are subsequently overruled and the order of sale entered, the County Collector would be authorized to proceed immediately to enforce collections in the same manner as though such injunctions had never been issued, or such objections had never been filed.

The foregoing bill for the payment of the 1930 taxes in six installments with the various provisions above set forth, we approve. This bill embodies what is known as the Keeler Plan, the details of which were largely worked out and submitted to the Executive Committee of the Governor's Tax Conference by Mr. Harris S. Keeler, Director of the Chicago Bureau of Public Efficiency. This subject matter constitutes the much debated problem wherein many persons and organizations are seeking legislation to fund the entire 1930 tax assessment, except the State taxes by the issuance of twenty-year bonds in the sum of $250,000,000.00 or more. The Executive Committee refused to adopt this plan.

Among the objections to the twenty years funding plan are (1) that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to market these bonds under present conditions; (2) these bonds could only be sold in the present market at an excessive rate of interest or at a price much below par, and (3) the interest on such a large issue would be an additional burden to be borne by taxpayers in the next succeeding twenty years. By the Keeler Plan, all persons who are able to pay their taxes can pay at once in full. Those who are not able to pay the entire amount at once would be required to pay only about 55% of their tax bills and the remaining 45% would be payable in annual installments spread over a five-year period. These installments as above set forth would bear interest at 6% but the taxpayer could relieve himself of this interest charge any time that he was able to pay the balance of the taxes. This your Committee believes to be better and sounder government financing.

(E) Measure to Pave the Way for Consolidations.

To pave the way for the increase in bonding power essential to local consolidations of government, so that counties can increase assessed valuations without incurring a disproportionate share of State tax burden, a bill is proposed to direct the State Auditor to adjust the rate percent, already determined for State tax purposes, so that it will correspond to the ratio of assessed value to true value in each county of the State. It is the purpose of this bill to cause all pieces of property of the same selling value to contribute the same amount in dollars and cents, regardless of varying relationships between assessed and true value in the several counties.

Coupled with the last bill is another bill to direct the State Tax Commission each year to ascertain and declare the ratio which the aggregate amount of the assessment for each county bears to the aggregate full value of all taxable property in that county, and also to ascertain and declare the ratio which the aggregate amount of assessments for all counties in the State bears to the aggregate full value of all taxable property in the State.

It is the general purpose of these two bills to prepare the way for the consolidation of the numerous, separate taxing bodies in Cook County. Your Committee approves the principle of these bills.

House Bill 1240—Regular session, 57th General Assembly—For an act to amend Sections 202, 210 and 227 of an act for the assessment of property and for the levy and collection of taxes approved March 30, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, as amended, we approve.

The purpose of this bill is to give relief to persons who desire to redeem their property which has been sold or forfeited for taxes or special assessments by reducing the penalty from twenty-five per cent to eight per cent. It is deemed that the present law providing for a penalty of twenty-five per cent was intended to apply to normal conditions and not to conditions such as now exist where there are many thousands of pieces of property sold for taxes or forfeited. It is suggested that the operation of this amendment might be limited to a period of five years.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

We recommend that at the earliest possible date an amendment to the Constitution be submitted to the people of the State of Illinois, providing that real and personal property may be classified into different classes for the purposes of taxation. This amendment, if adopted, would enable the Legislature to place income, real estate, homes and vacant property in different classes, and would likewise permit the Legislature to classify personal property into different classes for the purposes of taxation, thereby doing away with the uniformity rule of taxation required by the present Constitution. If and when such amendment and legislation are adopted, we believe it would result in great benefit to the people of the State in doing away with inequities and injustices and enabling taxing authorities to lay and collect a just taxation on a vastly larger body of personal property than is now scheduled and taxed. One of the chief advantages of this proposed amendment is that it does not propose a new tax but rather a modern and improved method of taxing both real and personal property.

Respectfully submitted,

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Chicago:

SECTION 1. That Chapter 67 of the Revised Chicago Code of 1931 be and the same is hereby amended by inserting therein, between Article XIII and Article XIV thereof, a new article which shall be known as Article XIII-A, and which shall read as follows:

ARTICLE XIII-A.

FUMIGATORS.

Section

3443A. Fumigator defined—license required.

3443B. Sale of material for generating hydrocyanic acid gas.

3443C. Application for license—board of examiners.

3443D. License fee—term—revocation.

3443E. Bond.

3443F. Employees of licensee.

3443G. Permit for premises to be fumigated.

3443H. Fumigation procedure.

3443I. Penalty.

3443A. Fumigator defined—license required.) No person, firm or corporation shall use hydrocyanic acid gas, cyanogen, chloropicrin, or any other poisonous, noxious or dangerous gases or fumes, specified by the commissioner of health as liable to affect human beings by causing severe sickness or death, for the extermination of household insects or vermin in any place of domestic habitation, hotel, apartment hotel, apartment building, tenement building, office building, furniture store, second-hand store, household goods warehouse, place of public assembly, lodging house, rooming house, asylum, hospital, home, institution, or similar places, without first obtaining a license as hereinafter required.

Provided, however, that this article shall not apply to fumigation of greenhouses, grain elevators, cereal or tobacco warehouses.

3443B. Sale of material for generating hydrocyanic acid gas.) No person, firm or corporation shall sell or give away material for the purpose of fumigating such premises with hydrocyanic acid gas, except to a person, firm or corporation licensed as herein provided, unless a signed statement in writing is first obtained from the buyer or recipient of the material to the effect that it will not be used for the purpose of fumigating any building or portion thereof set forth in the preceding section.

3443C. Application for license—board of examiners.) Any person, firm or corporation desiring a license to engage in the extermination of household insects, vermin, rats or other household pests by process of fumigation as set forth in Section 3443A shall make written application for such license in the form and manner prescribed by the ordinance relating to the general application for issuance of licenses.

In addition, the applicant shall file with the commissioner of health a sworn statement listing the training and experience tending to qualify the applicant for the performance of fumigating with hydrocyanic acid gas and other dangerous and noxious gases. In the case of firms or corporations, said statement shall cover the training and experience of the responsible officers.

The commissioner of health shall appoint a board of examiners of fumigators, consisting of three members. Said board shall make a thorough investigation of the training, experience, general qualifications, character and reputation of the applicants for licenses to fumigate with poisonous or noxious gases. The board shall also examine applicants by giving such mental, written and oral examinations as it deems necessary to determine the fitness and reliability of the applicant and to ascertain his knowledge of the requirements in regard to said business as set forth in this article, and on any rules and regulations of the department of health regulating and controlling said business.

In the case of a firm or corporation, the responsible officers of such organizations or any agents officially designated by such firm or corporation to supervise and control its fumigating work shall be subject to examinations of the applicants as herein provided.

Based on the findings and recommendations of the board of examiners of fumigators, the commissioner of health shall approve the issuance of a license to applicants he finds and considers reliable and safe to engage in the business of fumigating with hydrocyanic acid gas and other dangerous or noxious gases.

3443D. License fee—term—revocation.) The annual license fee for any person, firm or corporation engaging in the extermination of household insects, vermin, rats or other pests by process of fumigation as defined in this article, shall be twenty-five dollars.

All licenses issued under the provisions of this article shall expire on the thirty-first day of December following the date of issuance. The approval of the commissioner of health for the renewal of every such license shall be obtained before such license is renewed.

The license of any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this article may be revoked by the mayor upon recommendation of the commissioner of health, who shall give due hearing to licensee before such recommendation.

3443E. Bond.) No license shall be issued to any person, firm or corporation unless a real estate bond, indemnity bond or liability insurance, running to the city, is furnished in the sum of ten thousand dollars, which shall inure to the benefit of any person or persons who may receive injuries, acquire illness or suffer death by reason of the use of such gas or fumes by any such licensee or any agent or employee thereof engaged in exterminating and fumigating. Such bonds or insurance shall provide for the indemnification or insurance of the licensee in the payment of a liability in the sum not exceeding five thousand dollars for the injury or death of one person, and not exceeding ten thousand dollars for the injury or death of two or more persons other than the employees of the licensee resulting from the use of poisonous gases by said licensee, or by any of his agents.

All bonds or insurance policies, furnished in accordance with the provisions of this section, shall be approved as to form by the corporation counsel, and the sureties and real estate values shall be approved by the comptroller. Real estate bonds shall be recorded, and the cost of such recording, and the expense necessary in determining the value of the real estate listed in such bonds shall be paid by the licensee.

The employees of the licensee engaged in fumigation, as defined in Section 3443A, shall be covered by liability insurance providing for indemnification in case of bodily injury, sickness or death, in accordance with the Workmen's Compensation Act of the State of Illinois.

3443F. Employees of licensee.) No person shall be engaged by said licensee to work at the occupation of an exterminator or fumigator, employing the use of hydrocyanic acid gas and/or other dangerous gases or fumes as insecticides to kill or destroy insects, vermin, rats or other pests, without first filing an application and statement of experience and qualifications with, and receiving the approval of, the commissioner of health.

3443G. Permit for premises to be fumigated.) It shall be the duty of every person, firm or corporation licensed under this article, intending to generate or release hydrocyanic acid gas and/or other dangerous gases or fumes for fumigation purposes, before starting such generation or release, to notify, in writing, the commissioner of health, giving the location of the building or enclosed space to be fumigated, and to secure from the commissioner of health a permit, which shall state the day and hour when the work will be performed. Each application for such permit shall be accompanied by a fee of two dollars. Such permit shall be kept on the premises to be fumigated. Should the applicant be unable to perform the work on the hour and day set forth in the permit, and so notify the commissioner of health sixteen hours prior to the time set forth in the permit, the time of the permit may be extended.

Provided, however, that a ship or vessel may be fumigated, without previously securing from the commissioner of health a permit so to do if every person, except the watchman, shall leave the vessel for the period of fumigation and the vessel shall be fended off from shore so that no persons may board the vessel without the knowledge of the watchman; and, provided, further, that where furniture is removed from places of domestic habitation and fumigated in specially constructed vaults, and where furs or clothing are fumigated in specially constructed vaults, the permit for each such fumigation shall not be required, but in lieu thereof, an annual permit shall be secured from the commissioner of health after he has investigated and satisfied himself that the proper safeguards for health and life are provided.

3443H. Fumigation procedure.) When hydrocyanic acid gas and/or other dangerous gases or fumes are used for exterminating purposes, the following method of procedure shall be followed:

(a) Notification of Occupants and Vacating of Premises: Before fumigation, the operator shall personally inspect the premises, and shall serve notice, over his signature, upon all responsible occupants of each room or apartment within the danger area, stating the danger of the process and the precautions to be observed, designating the rooms or apartments which must be vacated and indicating the time when the gas is to be generated or liberated. The form of this notice shall be approved by the commissioner of health. Every room in the danger area shall be vacated. In the case of a building in which there is an inner court, vent shaft, or light well, or a lot line court with a party wall, or in the case of two buildings having adjacent lot line courts, upon which any room being gassed opens, every room with windows or other apertures opening to such inner or lot line courts, vent shafts or light wells, shall be vacated and securely locked. Where the walls of any adjoining buildings are located within 10 feet of the rooms or apartments being gassed, the operator shall notify, over his signature, all responsible occupants of rooms or apartments, with window openings in such walls, that such windows as are directly opposite, or above the area of the adjoining building which is under gas, must remain closed, or the rooms vacated during the time the building gassed is being flushed or aired. All rooms or apartments ordered vacated but not under gas shall be well ventilated during the process by keeping the windows of rooms or apartments open.

Provided, however, that such vacation of premises and notification of occupants shall not be necessary where the fumigation is done in special rooms or vaults in furniture stores, second-hand stores or household goods warehouses, when such special rooms or vaults are approved as to their location, construction and gas-tightness by the commissioner of health, and a provision is made for the airing of such vaults so as to allow the escape of gases, at such a location where it is not dangerous, by a system of ducts and ventilation approved by the commissioner of health.

(b) The Danger Area: The danger area is those portions of any structure or dwelling which lie within the boundary of the outside walls of the building under gas, the roof, and the basement or cellar floor, and such cut-off or fire walls as may exist in the structure in question. Such cut-off or fire walls shall be of solid masonry, gas tight, at least eight inches in thickness extending from the basement through the attic, with all openings locked and guarded against entry and effectively sealed against gas leakage.

(c) Crew to Be Removed From Vessel: No vessel shall be fumigated until the captain or other commanding officer shall have mustered the crew and caused the members thereof and all other persons therein or thereon to leave and remain away from such vessel during the process of fumigation. Provided, however, where a part of a vessel is to be fumigated and such part is not occupied or immediately adjoining an occupied portion of the vessel, and where after an investigation conducted by the commissioner of health, it appears to the satisfaction of the commissioner of health, that such portion may be fumigated without danger to life or health, he may, in his discretion, grant permission to the holder of a permit to perform fumigation without requiring all persons in other parts of such vessel to leave the same, subject to such conditions and restrictions as he may impose.

(d) Sealing Rooms—Before Releasing Hydrocyanic Acid Gas: Before fumigation with hydro-cyanic acid gas and/or other dangerous gases or fumes, it is required that the operator shall securely seal all cracks, holes, crevices, openings and apertures in walls, ceilings and floors in such a way as to confine the gas to the premises intended to be fumigated.

(e) Locking Rooms and Adjoining Rooms or Apartments: Before fumigation, it is required that the operator shall personally inspect all rooms and apartments ordered vacated under Section 3443H, Subdivision (a), and be assured that they are unoccupied by persons or domestic animals, afterwards all doors to all rooms or apartments, excepting one exit door to the rooms or apartments to be gassed, shall be securely locked; in addition, such windows or other wall openings as might possibly be used to gain entrance shall be locked or barred in such a way as to prevent entrance while still permitting thorough airing of the room. Immediately upon generating or liberating the gas, the door through which the operator leaves shall be securely locked and sealed, and all keys obtainable to all rooms or apartments ordered vacated shall be retained by the operator until all danger is passed. As an additional precaution, all rooms and apartments vacated shall be placarded.

(f) Warning Card: Prior to releasing the gas suitable warning signs shall be posted on all entrances or doors to the premises to be fumigated, and upon all gangplanks, ladders, and other approaches, etc., from the deck, pier or land to the vessel as follows:

DANGER
Skull and Crossbones	Fumigating with Cyanide Gas Deadly Poison	Skull and Crossbones

(All persons are warned to keep away.
By Order of the City Health Commissioner.

(Name and address of licensee as well as telephone number).

Such signs shall be printed in red ink on white cardboard. The letters in the word "Danger" shall be at least two inches high, all others except the signature at least three-fourths of an inch high. At night such signs shall be illuminated so as to make the reading matter thereon plainly legible.

(g) Guards: Whenever hydrocyanic acid and/or other dangerous gases or fumes are generated or liberated in any room or portion of a structure in the city a sufficient number of capable, alert watchmen shall remain on duty at the entrance or entrances to the room, building or enclosed space vacated for gassing, to prevent people from entering while gas is present and for two hours after the room or area gassed is opened for airing. All guards or watchmen shall be reliable persons and must be acceptable as a proper guard by the commissioner of health. The licensee shall be held strictly responsible and accountable for the conduct of the guards or watchmen. In every case where the entire building is not vacated, the licensee, or his approved representative, shall remain on the job during the progress of fumigation and airing, and shall constantly supervise the occupancy of the structure to insure that no person will be endangered by gas leakage. The licensee shall give all guards definite and proper instructions, and shall visit the premises being fumigated at regular and frequent intervals during the process to insure that they are properly guarded.

(h) Removal of Food: Before fumigation, the operator shall see that all ice, food and drink are removed from the rooms ordered vacated; except that such food or drink as is in sealed air-tight containers need not be removed. Provided, that completely dry foods, such as flour and cereals, when stored in elevators, warehouses or mills need not be removed when the fumigation is for the purpose of destroying vermin or insect pests infecting these foodstuffs.

(i) Fire: All fires within the premises under gas, shall be put out whenever an inflammable gas is used. For the purpose of this ordinance the commissioner of health shall designate upon request whether the gas to be used shall be regarded as inflammable or non-inflammable. The licensee shall notify the fire department of any rooms, building or structure other than approved vaults placed under hydrocyanic acid or other dangerous gas fumigation.

(j) Container for Ingredients: An impermeable receptacle for containing the ingredients is required.

(k) Spilling of Cyanide: No cyanic crystals shall be dropped on the floor or left exposed where people or domestic animals may come in contact with them.

(l) Opening of Rooms After Gassing: At the conclusion of the gassing process, it shall be the duty of the operator to throw open doors and windows of the premises, until all rooms have been opened for free access of air. No person other than the operator or operators shall be permitted to enter the premises until all traces of the gas have disappeared, and in no case shall the occupants of the rooms or areas gassed be permitted to enter until twelve hours after airing. The operator or watchmen shall keep all persons away from the doors and windows of the premises for two hours after airing. Infants and children under six years of age shall not be permitted to re-enter the premises until eighteen hours after the rooms or apartments are opened for airing. The licensee shall inform all occupants, having children, of this provision in writing over his signature. No room or space, except where the whole building is vacated and except upon a ship or vessel when fended off from shore as provided herein, shall be left under gas after the time of sunset. Warnings posted where the natural light between sunrise and sunset is dim shall be artificially illuminated. Warnings on vessels fumigated after sunset shall be artificially illuminated in a manner approved by the commissioner of health.

(m) The operator shall pour the residue left in the jars or containers, and the water used for cleaning such jars or containers, down the toilet bowl, which shall then be flushed thoroughly with water to remove all traces of the chemicals.

(n) Every container in which hydrocyanic acid, either alone, mixed with, or absorbed in, other material is handled, shipped or sold, shall be of a type of construction, material and thickness approved by the commissioner of health, in order that accidental poisonings during handling, storage and shipment of such containers may be prevented. This approval shall not be necessary where the containers are accepted by the U. S. officials for interstate shipment.

(o) The commissioner of health is hereby authorized and directed to prescribe and enforce such rules and regulations not in conflict with the provisions of this article, as he may deem necessary for the protection of life and public health.

(p) The commissioner of health may prescribe that a stink gas or tear gas shall be mixed with the hydrocyanic acid gas or other dangerous gases or fumes to be used for fumigating, specifying in whatever detail he shall deem necessary the time and method for the generation or release of such stink or tear gases. The commissioner of health is further authorized to prescribe from time to time changes or additions in the rules and regulations promulgated by him under this article as such changes or additions may be deemed by him to become necessary.

(q) If any part of this article is decided to be unconstitutional by any court having competent jurisdiction, it shall not affect the validity of any other part of this article. Such other parts will remain in full force and effect.

3443I. Penalty. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense.

SECTION 2. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and due publication.

3039. License required—fee.) No person, firm or corporation shall establish, maintain or operate any bakery, as defined in the foregoing section, or the business of an itinerant vender of bakery products at wholesale, without first having obtained a license for such bakery, and the wagons or vehicles operated in connection therewith, or the wagons or vehicles operated in connection with said business of itinerant vender, as hereinafter provided. For the purposes of this ordinance bakeries are classified in two classes—wholesale bakeries and retail bakeries.

A wholesale bakery shall be construed as being an establishment where bakery goods are manufactured for delivery in bulk or quantity for the purpose of resale or use. A retail bakery shall be construed as being an establishment where bakery goods are manufactured for sale to the general public or for use on the premises only, and shall include commissaries and catering establishments.

The annual license fee for such wholesale bakery is hereby fixed at fifteen dollars for each establishment, and five dollars in addition thereto for each vehicle operated for the delivery of bakery products; provided, however, that itinerant vendors of bakery products at wholesale operating independently of any licensed bakery shall pay an annual license fee of fifteen dollars for each vehicle operated.

The annual fee for such retail bakery is hereby fixed at fifteen dollars for each establishment where not more than two persons are engaged in the manufacture of bakery products, and two dollars and fifty cents for each additional person so engaged, and five dollars for each vehicle operated for the delivery of bakery products.

The number of persons engaged shall be com-

In computing the license fee in such a case all vehicles operated for the delivery of bakery products and all persons engaged in the manufacture of bakery products, whether at wholesale or retail, shall be counted. In case of an initial license period the number of persons engaged shall be estimated.

Every such license shall expire on the thirtieth day of April following the date of its issuance.

3040. Wagons and vehicles—license plates.) Every person, firm or corporation licensed and operating wagons or other vehicles under the provisions of this article shall have securely fastened on the outside of the right side of the box or body of each vehicle used in the conduct of the business a painted metal plate not less than eight inches long and four inches wide, having stamped or plainly marked thereon the words "CHICAGO BAKERY" and a number corresponding with the number of the license issued for such vehicle. Such plate shall also have marked thereon the year for which the license is issued, and shall be of a different color for each year. Such plate shall be obtained from the City Clerk at the time the license is issued. It shall be the duty of every person, firm or corporation licensed under this article, at the expiration of the license year for which such metal plate is issued, to remove or cause such plate to be removed from such wagon or other vehicle, and no such metal plate shall be used on any wagon or other vehicle at any time other than during the year for which such plate was issued.

3041. Application for license—approval of Commissioner of Health.) Any person, firm or corporation desiring to establish, maintain or operate a bakery, as defined in this article, or operate a bakery wagon or vehicle, shall make application in writing for a license so to do. Such application shall conform to the general provisions of this ordinance relating to applications for licenses, and shall also state the number of vehicles used for the delivery of and the number of persons engaged in the manufacture of bakery goods.

Within ten days after the receipt of such application, it shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Health to make or cause to be made an examination of the place described in such application for the purpose of ascertaining whether the location, lighting, ventilation, sanitary arrangements and equipment of such bakery conform to the provisions of this article. It shall also be the duty of the Commissioner of Health to make or cause to be made an examination of the wagons and vehicles used or intended to be used for the delivery of bakery products for the purpose of ascertaining whether the same conform to the provisions of this article. If the proposed bakery and bakery wagons or vehicles conform to the requirements of this article, the Commissioner of Health shall transmit such application to the Mayor with his approval thereof, whereupon the Mayor shall issue, or cause to be issued to such applicant, upon payment to the City Collector of the license fee or fees herein provided, a license authorizing such applicant to keep, conduct or maintain a bakery at the place described in such application, and/or to use or operate the bakery wagons or vehicles described in such application for and during the period of such license.

3042. Revocation of license.) If at any time during the term of such license the Commissioner of Health shall certify to the Mayor that the provisions of this article have not been or are not being complied with, or that the public health or the health of the persons engaged in such bakery is endangered by its maintenance, or that the bakery wagons or vehicles do not comply with the provisions of this article, the Mayor may revoke such license.

3043. Bakery establishments—sanitary requirements—ventilation.) Every place used as a bakery shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition as to its floors, sidewalls, ceilings, woodwork, fixtures, furniture, tools, machinery and utensils. All parts of the bakery shall be adequately lighted at all times and shall be ventilated by means of windows or skylights or air shafts or air ducts or mechanical apparatus, if necessary, so as to insure a free circulation of fresh air at all times. Such ventilating construction and equipment shall be of such character that a complete change of air in all parts of the bakery may be made at least four times each hour; provided, however, that it shall not be necessary to ventilate at such time or in such manner that the process of mixing or rising of dough shall of necessity be interfered with or prevented.

3044. Floor—how constructed.) The floor of every place used as a bakery, if below the street level, shall be constructed of concrete, cement, asphalt or other impervious material, or of tile laid in cement, which floor may, if desired, be covered with a hardwood floor having tight joints; if above the street level, the floor may be of hardwood with tight joints or may be of any impervious material, as above provided. The angles where the floor and wall join shall be made and maintained so as to be rat-proof.

3045. Every such bakery shall be provided with adequate plumbing and drainage facilities, including well ventilated water closets and impermeable sinks on iron supports. No person shall sleep in any bakery, or in the rooms where flour or meal used in connection therewith, or the food products made therein, are handled or stored. If any sleeping places are located on the same floor as the bakery, they shall be well ventilated, dry and sanitary. No domestic animals, except cats, shall be permitted in a bakery or place where flour or meal is stored in connection therewith, and suitable provisions shall be made to prevent nuisances from the presence of cats.

3048. Wearing apparel of workmen—cuspidors—use of tobacco and spitting—notice to be posted.) All workmen and employes, while engaged in the manufacture or handling of bakery products in a bakery, shall provide themselves with slippers or shoes and a suit of washable material which shall be used for that purpose only. These garments shall at all times be kept clean. Cuspidors of impervious material shall be provided and shall be cleansed daily. No employe or other person shall spit on the floor or side walls of any bakery or place where food products of such bakery are stored.

3050. Storage of materials and food.) All rooms for the storage of flour or meal for use in connection with any bakery shall be dry and well ventilated, and every bakery and room used for the storage of materials and food products in connection therewith shall be so arranged that the shelves, cupboards, trays, troughs, bins, cases and all other appliances for handling and storing the same can be easily removed and cleaned. If the floor of any such bakery or room is below the adjacent street level, no such materials or products shall be stored nearer to such floor than one foot.

3051. Wagons and vehicles—sanitary requirements.) No bread, pastry or other bakery product intended for human consumption shall be transported, kept, sold, offered for sale, or displayed in any wagon or other vehicle used for delivering bakery products, unless such bread, pastry or other bakery product is separately wrapped in paper or contained in a cardboard box or other dust-proof wrapper or container. The rear door or doors of such wagon or vehicle, when conveying bakery products, shall not be kept open except when loading or unloading such bakery products.

All wagons or vehicles used for the transportation of bread and other bakery products shall be kept at all times in a clean and sanitary condition. The floors shall be cleaned daily and the walls, ceilings, bins, compartments, and delivery baskets shall be cleaned as often as necessary to keep them in a clean and wholesome condition. Drivers of bakery wagons or vehicles, attendants or other employes engaged in the delivery of bakery products, shall wear clean outer garments and clean, washable gloves which shall be used for that purpose only.

Such wagons and vehicles shall be inspected under the direction of the Commissioner of Health as often and at such times as said commissioner may deem necessary or proper, in order to keep them in a proper sanitary condition, and the inspectors shall make reports in writing to said commissioner of any violation of the ordinances of the City in the operation of such wagons and vehicles or of any unsanitary or unclean conditions with respect to the transportation or delivery of bakery goods by such wagons or vehicles as may come to their attention.

No bread, pastry or other bakery product intended for human consumption shall be deposited in any open doorway, or upon any sidewalk, street, alley or other public place in the open air, or on the floor of any building, unless the same is contained in covered boxes or other suitable containers the openings of which are at least eighteen inches above the level of the floor, sidewalk, street, alley or other surface, so as to be protected from dogs and other animals and their excretions.

3052. New bakeries—requirements.) No new bakery shall be hereafter established in any room, basement or cellar in which the clear height between the finished floor and ceiling is less than eight feet six inches, or in any room or place the floor of which is more than five feet below the street, sidewalk or alley level adjacent to the building, or in any room or place which is not so naturally lighted by means of windows, doors, or skylights that on clear days a book or paper printed with long primer type can be read between the hours of ten o'clock A. M. and two o'clock P. M. in all parts of the bakery which are used in mixing or handling bakery products; provided, however, that where a bakery is to be installed for the purposes of a restaurant operated in connection with a railway passenger terminal, in case the plans for such bakery shall in all other respects comply with the ordinances of the City and such special requirements as the Commissioner of Health shall deem necessary with respect to its sanitary features and shall be approved by said commissioner, the said provisions shall not apply.

If any new bakery hereafter established has its floor above, at, or not more than three feet below the adjacent street or alley level, no window opening by which it is ventilated shall be less than three feet above such street or alley level; if the floor of any such bakery is more than three feet below the adjacent street or alley level, no such window opening shall be less than eighteen inches above such street or alley level.

3053. Bakery discontinued for six months and reopened—how considered.) If any bakery which is now being maintained and operated shall be vacated, discontinued or unused for a period of more than six consecutive months and shall thereafter be reopened and re-established as a bakery, such bakery shall be considered a new bakery for purposes of this article.

The Commissioner of Health and the authorized inspectors and employees of the Department of 3054. Penalty.) Any person, firm or corporation that shall hereafter establish, maintain or operate any bakery, or any bakery wagon or vehicle, without first procuring a license so to do, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense, and a separate offense shall be regarded as committed each day on which such person, firm or corporation shall maintain or operate any bakery, bakery wagon or vehicle, without a license as aforesaid.

Any person, firm or corporation that violates or fails to comply with any other provision of this article shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense, and a separate offense shall be regarded as committed each day on which such person, firm or corporation shall continue any such violation or failure.

CHICAGO, ILL., November 27, 1931.

Joseph C. Ross, Alderman, 10th Ward, Chicago, Illinois:

HONORABLE SIR—We, the undersigned property-owners of the 40th Ward, voice our disapproval of the Arvey Bill, now pending. Under this Bill, as you know, universities and institutions may obtain dogs from the Municipal Shelter free of charge. It seems unfair that these institutions should reap all the benefit when a dog owner must pay three dollars and fifty cents ($3.50) to retrieve a licensed dog that has been unfortunate enough to reach the pound.

Your opposition to this Bill at the next Council meeting, Tuesday, December 1, 1931, will be heartily appreciated by all:

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

Regulations Governing Installation of Warm Air Heating Plants.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the Acting Corporation Counsel:

DEPARTMENT OF LAW,
CHICAGO, December 3, 1931.]

To the Honorable, the City Council, of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—It has been called to the attention of this department by the commissioner of buildings that those provisions of the City ordinances relating to gravity warm air heating plants are not included within the Revised Chicago Code of 1931.

After going into the matter it appears that the original ordinance relating to gravity warm air heating plants was passed by your honorable body on December 28, 1927 (Council Journal, pages 1662-1668). This ordinance was amended on January 28, 1928 (Council Journal, page 2091), on April 18, 1928 (Council Journal, pages 2681-2682) and again on April 18, 1928 (Council Journal, pages 2682-2683).

Through inadvertence the original ordinance and the amendments thereto were omitted from the 1931 Code. In the meantime, in the case of the City of Chicago vs. The Wonder Heating and Ventilating Systems, Incorporated, the Supreme Court upheld the validity of this ordinance, on October 23, 1931 (345 Ill. 496).

The effect of the Supreme Court's decision in passing upon this ordinance is to sustain the City's authority thereunder, and were it not for the fact that in preparing and enacting the Revised Chicago Code of 1931 this ordinance was lost sight of, the building department would be in a position to enforce the same. The effect of this omission was tantamount to the repeal of the ordinance and suspends enforcement thereof until such time as it shall be reinstated.

At the urgent request of the commissioner of buildings we have prepared the draft submitted herewith, which is practically a duplicate of the original ordinance as passed and as amended by your honorable body, only such changes having been made as will enable it to be fitted into its proper place in the 1931 Code.

We respectfully recommend your favorable action thereon at an early date.

Yours truly,

(Signed)

RUTH C. NELSON,
Assistant Corporation Counsel.

Approved:

(Signed)

LEON HORNSTEIN,
Acting Corporation Counsel.

Unanimous consent was given to permit action on the ordinance submitted with the foregoing communication without reference thereof to a committee.

Alderman Bowler moved to pass said ordinance.

The motion prevailed, by yeas and nays as follows:

Yeas—Coughlin, Jackson, Schreiber, Healy, Hodes, Sutton, Govier, Rowan, Wilson, Hartnett, Kovarik, Moran, Corr, Morris, Northrup, Pacelli, Lagodny, Cepak, Toman, Arvey, Bowler, Sloan, Leahy, Kells, Terrell, Clark, Rostenkowski, Keane, Porten, Robinson, Mills, Landmesser, Orlikoski, Ross, Moreland, Crowe, Waller, Loescher, Feigenbutz, Nelson, Hoellen, Massen, Quinn—43.

1496-B. Minimum requirements.) The provisions of this article shall be held to be the minimum requirements adopted for the protection of health, welfare, sanitation and the safety of the community and for the protection of the ultimate purchaser or user of the heating plant.

1496-C. Provisions in new buildings and in buildings already constructed.) The following provisions shall be complied with in any building wherein a warm air heating plant is or is to be installed:

(A.) Buildings Under Construction.

The term "new buildings" as used in this article, shall be construed to mean buildings which have not been and are not inhabited.

(1) Where warm air register boxes, heads, pipes or stacks are to be installed, joists shall be set not less than sixteen inches (16") on centers and shall be butted and not lapped. Studding shall be set directly over and under joists, leaving a space of not less than fourteen inches (14") between studs and joints. Wherever joists are cut, headers must be put in to support joists, in all buildings having studded exterior walls, the floors shall be extended to the outside sheathing and all spaces between studding shall be closed at the attic floor line.

(2) All partition walls (or sections of these walls) in which heat stacks to second or third floor rooms are to be installed, shall be of sufficient size to accommodate stacks required to heat said rooms.

(3) In new construction, it shall be unlawful for anyone to do any cutting of woodwork for the reception of the wall stacks or baseboard registers except the general contractor or the contractor in charge of the work for him, or some duly qualified carpenter working under him. Where it is necessary to cut joists or supporting members, headers shall be put in and braced so as not to weaken the structure.

(B.) Buildings Already Constructed.

The term "buildings already constructed", as used in this article, shall be construed to mean completed buildings which have been or are inhabited.

(1) It shall not be necessary to remove the plaster and lath from the walls where the new stacks are to be run, provided that stacks have proper capacity for connecting basement pipe and can be securely fastened together and shoved in either from above or below.

(2) On buildings already constructed, it shall be lawful for the heating contractor to do any cutting necessary for the reception of all appurtenances in the installation of a gravity warm air heating plant.

(3) Otherwise, installation of new work in buildings already constructed shall, in general, conform to the provisions of this article.

1496-D. Method for determining sizes of pipes, wall stacks and furnaces.)

(A.) Method for Determining Sizes of Basement Warm Air Pipes.

Rule A.

Each First Floor Room.

Divide square feet of glass by 12,

Divide square feet of net outside wall by 60,

(See Table A)

Divide cubic contents by 800,

Add together the above and multiply by 9,

The result is the area of the basement pipe.

The sum of:

Rule B.

Each Second Floor Room.

Divide square feet of glass by 12,

Divide square feet of net outside wall by 60,

(See Table A)

Divide cubic contents by 800,

Add together the above and multiply by 6,

The result is the area of the basement pipe.

The sum of:

Rule C.

Each Third Floor Room.

Divide square feet of glass by 12,

Divide square feet of net outside wall by 60,

(See Table A)

Divide cubic contents by 800,

Add together the above and multiply by 5,

The result is the area of the basement pipe.

The sum of:

(B.) Basis of Working Rules for Pipes.

These formulae are for 70 degrees temperature difference (outside temperature zero, inside temperature 70 degrees Fahrenheit). When temperature difference is more than 70 degrees, add 1½ per cent per degree to final figures. When temperature difference is less than 70 degrees, deduct 1½ per cent per degree from final figures.

The values as given in Table A for use in the working rules, section 1496-D, Rules A, B and C are derived as follows:

EXAMPLE.

The factor 60 in Table A, Item No. 1, is based upon a co-efficient of heat transmission of 0.23 B. t. u. per square foot per degree difference per hour, thus:

$W \times 0.23 \times 70 \div 111 = \text{sq. in. first floor leader to compensate for the heat loss through walls only. In this, } W = \text{net area of exposed wall in sq. ft.; } 0.23 = \text{co-efficient of transmission in B. t. u. per sq. ft. per degree difference per hr.; } 70 = \text{difference in temperature of air on inside and outside of wall; } 111 = \text{heat delivering capacity of 1 sq. in. of first floor leader pipe for a register temperature of } 175^\circ \text{ F. Reduced to its simplest approximate form this is}$

Likewise substitute 167 for second floor and 200 for third floor in place of 111.

The values in Table A for the different types of walls were obtained by substitution of proper co-efficient of heat transmission instead of 0.23 in the above formula.

TABLE A.

(The factor 60 used in section 1496-D, Rules A, B and C, is for buildings constructed as herein-after set forth in Item No. 1. When other types of walls are used substitute the appropriate factor as follows:

(C.) Method for Determining Size of Wall Stacks.

1. First Floor Rooms.
Same as Rule A.
2. Second Floor Rooms.
Not less than 70% of basement pipe area as determined in Rule C.
3. Third Floor Rooms.
Not less than 70% of basement pipe area as determined in Rule C.
4. Where one stack is used to convey heat to two rooms, its net area shall be determined by adding together the areas of the two single stacks, which would be required to take care of the heat losses for each room were single stacks used.
5. In obtaining glass surface use full casement opening. An outside door is figured as glass.
6. To obtain net outside wall multiply height by width and deduct the glass in all windows and outside doors. For all rooms with attic spaces immediately above full ceiling areas shall be taken into account, using Table A.
7. For rooms having unusual exposure, ordinarily north, northeast and northwest, add 15% to pipe area. For east and west exposure add 10%.
8. Use no warm air pipe less than 8 inches in diameter. If a basement warm air pipe figures greater area than any standard commercial size then the nearest commercial size shall be used; provided, however, that the total pipe area shall in no case be less than the total requirements according to Rules A, B and C.
9. It is understood in using the above values for determining basement warm air pipe areas, that these pipes should be run comparatively straight and that they should not be over 10 to 12 feet in length. Sharp turns and long pipes should have extra capacity.
10. The value of 800 (used in cubic contents) is for an estimated air change of one room volume per hour. If it is desired to provide for 1½ room volume use the figure 600. If for two rooms volume use the figure 400.

(D.) Transition Fittings and Stacks.

1. Transition from warm air pipes to stacks shall be made with a well designed elbow or boot and no stack shall be less than 70% of the area of the warm air pipe leading to it.

2. All first floor fittings and connections shall maintain a free area equal to the round basement pipes leading to them.

(E.) Method for Determining Size of Registers.

1. All registers shall have a free area at least equal to the area of the basement pipes leading to them.

(F.) Method for Determining Size of Furnace.

1. Add together the areas (expressed in square inches) necessary for heating the building, as determined by the foregoing calculated requirements, Section 1496-D, Rules A, B and C, and install a furnace, rated by the following formula:

FURNACE RATING FORMULA.

$$L = 1.75 G (1 \text{ plus } 0.02 (R-20))$$

L = square inches of warm air pipe connected to the furnace as calculated.

G = grate area in square inches; the area of the fire pot at the grate level; its most restricted area.

R = ratio of heating surface area to grate area:

1.75 = a constant based upon the results obtained on a furnace having 20 square feet of heating surface for each square foot of grate, and including factors for:

E = efficiency of heater;

C = combustion rate;

F = calorific value of fuel;

0.75 = percentage of heat available at registers.

136 = B. t. u. delivering value of one square inch of pipe, assuming half of the heat is sent to each floor. This value is based on an operating temperature of 175° F. at the register.

The formula allows 1.75 square inches of warm air pipe area for each square inch of grate area, for the furnace having a ratio of heating surface to grate surface of 20 to 1. For furnaces having other ratios of heating surfaces to grate surface, it adds 2% or deducts 2% for each unit above or below a ratio of 20.

APPLICATION.

	No. 1 Positive Correction	No. 2 No. Correction	No. 3 Negative Correction
Grate area, sq. in.	346	346	346
Heating surface area sq. in.	7540	6920	6565
Ratio heating surface area to grate area =	21.8 to 1	20.0 to 1	16.4 to 1
R-20 =	1.8	0.0	-3.6
Correction per cent =	3.6	0.0	-7.2
1.75 G =	606	606	606
L = 1.75 G plus Correction =	628	606	562

2. In second floor duplex, flats or apartments where separate heating plants are used, add 50% to the total net calculated areas as determined in section 1496-D, (C) 2. This represents the required warm air pipe capacity in square inches of the furnace for the second floor.

1496-E. Installation.)

(A.) Location of Furnace.

The location of the furnace shall equalize the length of warm air runs as far as possible, yet give necessary preference to pipes supplying living rooms, dining rooms and main halls.

(B.) Foundation.

Furnace foundation of brick, cement, or other incumustible material must be provided. Said foundation shall extend at least fifteen inches (15") at rear and sides of furnace casing and at least thirty-six inches (36") in front of furnace casing. Foundation to be level. Where a furnace is to be placed on combustible material, the specifications of the national board of fire underwriters shall be complied with.

(C.) Setting or Assembling of Furnace.

(1) The base ring of the furnace shall be cemented to the foundation, making an air tight joint. The furnace parts shall be assembled plumb and level, and in a workmanlike manner.

(2) All sections and joints shall be properly fitted. Joints requiring cement shall be well filled and all bolts shall be drawn up tightly.

(3) Every warm air furnace shall be equipped with a water pan or humidifying device to evaporate moisture in the air.

(D.) Casings.

(1) Warm air furnaces shall be enclosed in metal casings or walls of brick, tile or concrete.

(2) Portable. Sheet metal casings, including casing tops, shall be made of galvanized sheets, not lighter than 26-U. S. Standard Gauge. They shall fit the casings and casing rings closely, so as to be dust tight, and shall be securely fastened to the front. The casing shall be lined from the upper casing ring down to a line on a level with the grate.

(3) When side collars are used the casing top must be of sufficient height so that the largest warm air pipe can be taken from side without ovaling. In no case shall a distance less than eight inches (8") be maintained between the top of any furnace and the top line of the bonnet.

(4) Any furnace, the casing top of which shall come within twelve inches (12") of a combustible floor, ceiling or joist, shall be protected by a metal shield, extending not less than eighteen inches (18") beyond the casing of said furnace. This shield shall be suspended at least two inches below wood work, allowing free air space between shield and woodwork. No furnace casing or top, coming nearer than six inches (6") of ceiling or joists shall be allowed in any case.

(5) Openings for side casing collars shall be cut into the casing top, so that the tops of all openings are on a level. Casing collars shall be fitted into place with a proper flange, or bead on the outside and drawn up on the inside, making a dust tight joint. All collars shall be of same size as the warm air pipes to which they are to be connected.

(6) Brick, cement or hollow tile casing shall be constructed as follows: Walls shall be not less than eight inches (8") in thickness, and shall be constructed air tight. The least inside dimension of rectangular casing shall be the same as that of the portable casing of a corresponding size of furnace. Walls shall be carried to the same height as the portable walls, allowing not less than eight inches (8") between the top of the furnace and the bottom of the top cover. After placing the collars for the warm air pipes, continue the masonry up two inches (2") above the top of the collars, lay single or tee irons across the furnace top, spaced eight inches (8"), cover these with sheet metal not less than 26 U. S. S. Gauge, cover the sheet metal with masonry or sand and run the side walls four inches (4") above the roof of the furnace. A galvanized iron casing bonnet may be used on a brick set furnace.

Provisions shall be made in the walls for a manhole to give egress to heater.

(E.) Warm Air Pipes in Basement.

(1) All warm air pipes shall be made of bright tin not lighter than 16, or galvanized iron. All elbows shall be made of bright tin not lighter than 16, or galvanized iron, and shall be four piece, 90 degree. Side seams shall be locked seams. All joints shall be either double seamed or lapped not less than one and one-quarter inches (1 1/4") and such joints shall be match-beaded, or beaded and soldered, or riveted. All pipes and fittings shall be properly secured to ceiling or joist. No solder or riveted joint is required where round pipe slips over the casing collar or enters boot or box. Any pipe fourteen inches (14") or greater in diameter shall not be made of material lighter than 16 tin or No. 26 U. S. Standard Gauge galvanized iron.

NOTE—It is recommended that all warm air pipes in the basement shall have an upward pitch of not less than one inch (1") per running foot.

(2) All warm air pipes in the basement shall be provided with dampers supported on both sides not more than two feet from the casing.

(3) Where warm air pipes pass through a masonry wall, a metal thimble shall be provided, having a diameter at least one inch greater than the pipe, and the pipe supported in such a manner that the air space is uniform on all sides.

(4) All openings around first floor, wall and floor boxes and stacks to upper floors shall be sealed dust-tight.

(F.) Wall Stacks.

(1) All wall stacks or wall pipes, heads, boots, ells, tees, angles and other connections shall be made of bright tin or galvanized iron and shall be covered with not less than one thickness of 12-pound per one hundred square foot of asbestos paper. All such pipes shall be braced in a proper manner so as not to obstruct the flow of air but to retain the full capacity throughout. All joints shall be fastened securely and the stacks held in place by means of lugs or straps.

(2) All warm air stacks shall be run in inside walls. Where it is absolutely necessary to run same in outside walls, they shall be insulated with mineral wool or not less than three

(3) thicknesses of air cell asbestos paper.

(G.) Registers.

(1) When baseboard or wall registers are used, they shall be attached to the stack head in such a manner that will prevent any leakage of air between the head and the register.

(2) Any furnace system having not more than two warm air registers, at least one of the registers shall be without valve or louvers and the pipe thereto shall be without damper.

(H.) Air Supply to Furnace.

(1) The air supply to furnace for warm air heating plants may be taken from outside or from within the building, or may be taken partially from outside and partially from within. In no case, however, shall air be supplied to any furnace from any basement or furnace room.

(2) The cold air intake or return where air is taken from within the building shall have a net area throughout its entire length of not less than the combined net area of all warm pipes leading from the furnace. This may be maintained in one or more ducts. No reverse incline or air trap will be allowed in any section thereof.

(3) When the cold air supply is taken wholly from the outside of the building the supply duct at its most contracted area must equal or exceed eighty per cent (80%) of the combined area of all warm air pipes leading from the furnace.

(4) Cold air ducts shall maintain a constant net area throughout their entire length and shall be made dust tight. Horizontal return ducts shall have at least ten per cent (10%) greater area than vertical connecting pipes. Where a boot or shoe is connected to the casing at the base, the opening shall not extend higher than a line on the level of the grate of the furnace. The width of the shoe shall be of proper measurement to make the area at least equal to that of the round or square pipe to which it is connected.

(5) Wherever the space between joists is used to convey cold air overhead, such space shall be at least ten per cent (10%) greater in the area than the connecting pipe; and shall be sealed and air tight.

(6) When it is necessary to set the furnace over a pit and connect up cold air under the basement floor, such pit or cold air trench shall not exceed eighteen inches (18") in depth below the casing ring and the width of the trench or trenches shall be of proper measurement to make the area at least equal to the pipe to which it is connected. The connection between the cold air pipe or duct and the underground pit shall be made with converse transition joint.

(7) The cold air face or faces shall be made of wood or metal. When set in floors the top of wood faces shall be flush with floor. Where cold air face is placed in a seat or side wall the open work of face must extend to within one-quarter inch ($\frac{1}{4}$ ") of the floor line.

(8) The free area of cold air faces shall be at least equal to the free area of the duct or ducts to which they are connected.

(9) The capacity of any vertical cold air face shall be determined by multiplying the base line in inches by not to exceed fourteen inches (14") in height and deducting for the grills or cross bars.

(I.) Smoke Pipes.

(1) The smoke pipe shall be as short and direct as consistent with the location of the furnace. It shall be made of metal not lighter than No. 24 U. S. Standard Gauge and not less than the full size of the collar on the furnace throughout its entire length. It must have no opening for attaching any fire place, stove, range, water heater, gas or ventilating connection. It shall be lock seamed or riveted; all joints shall lap not less than one and one-half inches ($1\frac{1}{2}$ ") and it shall be rigidly secured. Cast iron smoke pipe may be used.

(2) All smoke pipes shall be provided with check dampers, placed on the side of the pipe or at the end of a tee; when cast iron smoke pipe dampers are used they must be placed between the check damper and the furnace and supported on both sides of the pipe.

(3) Where the smoke pipe enters the flue, a thimble shall be cemented into the flue and the connections thereto made air tight. Should any smoke pipe come within eighteen inches (18") of any combustible material, such combustible material must be covered with asbestos paper and a metal shield so fastened that a two-inch air space exists between this shield and the combustible material. This shield shall be no less in size than twice the diameter of the smoke pipe and of sufficient length to cover the combustible material at all points.

(4) No smoke pipe shall project through any external wall or window.

(J.) Pipeless or One Pipe Furnaces.

(1) When but one duplex grating is used for both warm air and cold air, in a so-called pipeless furnace, the area of the cold air intake shall be at least equal to the area of the warm air outlet of the grating. Section 1496-E, (D), relative to casing shall not govern when this type of furnace is installed, but the following specification shall be followed: The inner and outer casing of this type of furnace may be made of either black or galvanized iron not lighter than No. 26 U. S. Standard Gauge. A uniform air space shall be maintained at all points between the inner and outer casing. In no case shall the top of the heater be allowed closer than twelve inches (12") to any ceiling or joists above the furnace.

(2) Where joists are cut to accommodate this furnace, headers shall be put in and braced.

(3) Section 1496-D for determining area of warm air pipe shall not govern in figuring a pipeless furnace.

(4) Where one warm air register face is used and separate face or faces for cold air supply are used, then section 1496-E, (E), (G) and (H) shall apply.

(K.) Permit.

(1) It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, firm or corporation to construct, replace or install any warm air heating furnaces or appurtenances thereto within the city without first obtaining from the commissioner of buildings a permit to do such work, for which said person, persons, firm or corporation shall pay to said commissioner of buildings, for the use of said city, for each furnace installed, renewed or repaired the sum of five dollars.

(2) No heating permits shall be required for minor repair work. By minor repair work is meant the incidental repairs to furnaces, which shall not affect the general action of the system, such as renewal of grates, smoke pipes and resetting old furnace in same location; or renewing of single warm air pipes in basement; but when additional runs or new stacks are installed, a permit shall be required, for which the person, firm or corporation installing said additional runs or new stacks shall pay to the commissioner of buildings, for the use of said city, the sum of one dollar for each outlet.

(1) It shall be the duty of the commissioner of buildings to cause an inspection to be made of all warm air furnaces and the appurtenances thereto hereafter installed by an inspector who is an experienced and competent journeyman sheet metal worker and see that same is installed or constructed in conformity to the provisions of this article. The expenses of such inspection shall be paid out of the fees received for permits to install or construct such warm air furnaces and appurtenances.

(2) Inspection of new work in new buildings shall be made as follows: When such work has proceeded to where the stacks to upper floors and heads for all side wall registers have been installed, boots connected thereto, the contractor, or person obtaining permit for this work, shall notify the commissioner of buildings, who shall make or cause to be made an inspection of such work. Upon finding that the work complies in all respects with the terms of this article there shall be affixed by said commissioner of buildings, or his representative, to each stack register head a certificate stating that the work complies with the ordinance relating thereto.

(3) Inspection of new work in buildings already constructed, shall be made only after installation is completed.

(4) Final inspection of plant shall be made after the whole is connected up and ready to operate.

(5) It shall be unlawful for any person to lath over, plaster or cover up any warm air heating work before such work in new buildings or completed buildings where plaster and lath have been removed, has been inspected and certificates above referred to have been attached. The commissioner of buildings shall have the right and authority to remove or order removed all such lath, plaster or other coverings which may have been placed over such work before same has been inspected. The person, persons, firm or corporation ordering or causing such work to be covered up, or in any way violating any section of this article as herein set forth, shall, upon conviction, be subject to the penalties set forth for violation of the terms of this article.

1496-F. Registration.) It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to engage in the business of installing gravity warm air heating plants with necessary appurtenances thereto as heretofore defined without being registered as a warm air furnace heating and installing contractor in the manner hereinafter set forth; provided, however, that if such person, firm or corporation is already registered for the current year in another city or village within the State of Illinois, such contractor shall not be required to be registered or to pay a registration fee in this city.

1496-G. Application for registration.) Any person, firm or corporation desiring to engage in the business of warm air furnace heating and installing contractor shall apply for registration to the commissioner of buildings. Upon the filing of such application in proper form and the payment of registration fee fixed herein, the commissioner of buildings shall register the applicant as a warm air furnace heating and installing contractor and shall issue to the applicant a certificate of registration which will authorize the applicant to engage in such business for the year in which it is issued; providing that such applicant has filed with the city clerk an indemnifying bond as hereinafter set forth. The commissioner of buildings shall keep a suitable record of such registrations.

1496-H. Bond.) Prior to the issuance of a certificate of registration for warm air furnace heating and installing contractor, the applicant shall file with the city clerk an indemnifying bond with good and sufficient sureties in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, such bond being payable to the city of Chicago, for the use of any persons, firms or corporations with whom such applicant shall thereafter contract to do work, to indemnify any such persons, firms or corporations for damages sustained on account of the failure of such applicant to perform the work so contracted for, in accordance with the provisions and requirements of the city relating to the installation of gravity warm air heating plants with necessary appurtenances thereto.

1496-I. Fee for registration—term.) The fee for registration as a warm air furnace heating and installing contractor shall be fifty dollars per annum which sum shall be paid by the applicant to the city collector in advance upon filing his application. The certificate of registration issued thereunder shall expire on the 31st day of December of the year in which it is issued.

1496-J. Validity.) Should any section or provision of this article be held unconstitutional or invalid by any court, all other sections and provisions shall nevertheless be deemed as effective as though such unconstitutional or invalid section or provisions had never been inserted in this ordinance.

All ordinances, or parts of ordinances, inconsistent with the provisions of this article are hereby repealed.

1496-K. Penalty.) Any person, firm or corporation that shall engage in the business of a warm air furnace heating and installing contractor without obtaining a certificate of registration as herein provided for, or that shall violate any of the provisions of this article shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense, and a separate and distinct offense shall be regarded as committed every day on which such person, firm or corporation shall continue to operate contrary to the provisions of this article.

SECTION 2. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and due publication.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.Proposed Permission to the County of Cook to Pave Part of W. 79th St. as a State-aid Road.

The City Clerk presented a communication, submitted by the Commissioner of Public Works, transmitting an ordinance authorizing the County of Cook to pave West 79th street from South Cicero avenue to South Western avenue as a State-aid road, which was Referred to the Committee on Local Industries, Streets and Alleys.

MUNICIPAL TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM.In the Matter of an Enlargement of the Facilities of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the Board of Directors of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium, which was ordered published and referred to the Committee on Finance:

MUNICIPAL TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM,
CHICAGO, November 21, 1931.

To the Honorable Members of the City Council of Chicago, Council Chambers, City Hall, Chicago:

HONORABLE SIRs—In conformity with resolution adopted by the City Council November 18th pertaining to the suggested expansion of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium to meet the existent need for additional beds for tuberculous patients, we are submitting the following brief report and tentative estimate of the cost of additional building and equipment:

The present capacity of the Sanitarium is 1,225 beds and there is a waiting list of 589. With the average length of stay per patient ten to twelve months, the turnover is necessarily slow, so that, under existing conditions, some patients have been required to wait as long as two years or more before being admitted. This may seem exaggerated but is better understood when we explain that over 90% of those on the waiting list are in the far advanced group requiring private room care and we have only 280 rooms. It is in the lack of private rooms that our main difficulty lies, making it not only impossible to give the far advanced cases the care they should have, but also impossible to draw from the community, before new cases have been infected, those who are the greatest menace to the health of others.

The National Tuberculosis Association has estimated that in order to adequately take care of the tuberculosis problem in any city there should be one bed for each mortality from tuberculosis per year. Last year, in the City of Chicago, there were 1,927 deaths from tuberculosis. There are 1,332 free beds available in Chicago for adult patients, a shortage, based on the National Tuberculosis Association's estimate, of 595 beds. Taking our waiting list of 589 into consideration, as well as the fact that Cook County Hospital is overcrowded and there is a waiting list for both that institution and Oak Forest, it is our opinion a building program to provide an additional 1,000 beds would alleviate the situation materially, if not remedy it altogether.

The estimated cost of a 1,000 bed unit, figured on the basis of $2,000 per hospital bed, would be$2,000,000.00

The cost of care and treatment of 1,000 patients, figured on the prevailing per capita cost of about $17.00 per week, would be, approximately, per annum. 884,000.00

Revenue: The revenue anticipated for the year 1932 is $2,586,140.09. Although a considerable saving in operation has been effected this year as compared to previous years, the money available on the basis of the present tax levy of seven-tenths of a mill will not warrant the suggested increase in capacity without also a corresponding increase in the revenue. With the activities we have added, such as the Municipal Home for the Open Case, and the expansion of the tuberculosis program generally, to make the work of eradication and prevention of the disease more effective, the budget for 1932 will leave no balance.

To provide a $2,000,000 fund for buildings and approximately $884,000 per year for care and treatment of 1,000 additional patients, it is figured an increase in the tax levy to one and one-half mills will be needed for a period of three years, after which, when the buildings have been completed, it could be reduced to one mill, leaving the annual income at approximately $3,694,485.80.

[We want to thank the members of the City Council for their interest and to assure them of there is any way in which we can aid in securing for Chicago this much needed improvement, we are theirs to command.]

Very respectfully yours,

(Signed)

F. TICE,
President, Board of Directors.

ALLAN J. HRUBY,
Secretary, Board of Directors.

SECTION 2. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

City Comptroller: Authority to Place an Order for the Printing of Tax Anticipation Warrants.

The Committee on Finance submitted a report recommending the passage of an order submitted therewith authorizing the City Comptroller to place an order for the printing of tax anticipation warrants.

House of Correction: Authority for Expenditures in Connection with the Establishment of the Bridewell Farm Colony.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following veto message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, December 11, 1931.}

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval, an order passed by your Honorable Body on December 1, 1931, and appearing on page 1374 of the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of that date, whereby the Superintendent of the House of Correction is authorized to expend the sum of $44,791.91 for the purchase of work and materials in connection with the construction work on the Bridewell Farm Colony.

My reason for vetoing said order is that I am informed by the Corporation Counsel that the said order is not in good form. It appears to be intended to overcome the requirement for advertisement and letting to the lowest bidder but it does not say so, and, in that respect, the order would be defective and would not accomplish what it is intended to accomplish.

I therefore recommend that the vote by which the said order was passed be reconsidered, and that the said order be repassed in the form of an ordinance with the provisions that are necessary contained therein, draft of such ordinance being submitted herewith.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

A. J. CERMAK,
Mayor.

Alderman Toman moved to reconsider the vote by which said vetoed order was passed.

The motion prevailed.

No motion being made to pass the said vetoed order, the veto of the Mayor to the contrary notwithstanding, Alderman Toman moved to pass the substitute ordinance submitted with the said veto message.

No demand being made by any two members of the Council for the reference of said substitute ordinance to a committee, and the question being put, the vote thereon was as follows:

Yeas—Coughlin, Anderson, Jackson, Cronson, Schreiber, Healy, Hodes, Sutton, Govier, Rowan, Wilson, Hartnett, O'Grady, Kovarik, Moran, Corr, Morris, Northrup, Pacelli, Lagodny, Cepak, Toman, Bowler, Sloan, Leahy, Kells, Terrell, Clark, Konkowski, Rostenkowski, Keane, Porten, Robinson, Mills, Landmesser, Orlikoski, Ross, Moreland, Waller, Loescher, Feigenbutz, Nelson, Hoellen, Massen, Williston, Quinn—46.

In the Matter of an Extension of Relief to Unemployed Home-owners.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, which was ordered published and referred to the Select Committee on Unemployment:

UNITED CHARITIES OF CHICAGO,
CHICAGO, December 4, 1931.

Honorable Peter J. Brady, City Clerk, City of Chicago, City Hall, Chicago, Illinois:

DEAR SIR—Permit me to acknowledge your favor of November 20th attaching copy of the resolution of the City Council.

This organization's budget has been underwritten by the Joint Emergency Relief Fund, and its principles of operation are controlled by that Fund.

I understand from the Joint Emergency Relief Fund that you have also sent copy of the resolution to them, and would advise that the reply made by that organization covered the United Charities as well.

I wish to point out, however, that the fourth clause of the preamble of the resolution is incorrect as it applies to the United Charities. In normal times the United Charities does not give assistance to property owners, as at such times such property owners have in their property a means of raising funds. For some months past, however, the United Charities has been giving help to property owners in cases where investigation discloses the fact that the ownership of such property, under present financial conditions, does not constitute a means of raising current funds for necessary support. As early as last June this organization in certain cases was actually furnishing relief to individual landlords whose sole income was derived from the revenue of residential property which income had ceased, due to non-payment by tenants, due to the latter's unemployment. The clause mentioned, therefore, refers to a rule of this organization observed in normal times, but suspended during the present emergency.

Such relief, however, is confined to the furnishing of the necessities of life, and does not extend to the point of furnishing property owners with funds to pay taxes or otherwise preserve their interest in their property.

It is upon this point that reply will be made by the Joint Emergency Relief Fund.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

SAMUEL INSULL,
President.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE,
CHICAGO, December 7, 1931.

To the Honorable, the Mayor and Aldermen, in City Council Assembled:

GENTLEMEN—In compliance with Section 5 of Part Two of Article XII of "An Act to provide for the Incorporation of Cities and Villages", requiring the City Comptroller to advertise for bids from regularly established national and state banks doing business in the City, for interest upon the money of the City so deposited in the said banks and in pursuance of the ordinances passed thereunder; and in accordance with Sections 128 to 139 of the Otis Act passed in 1917: advertisement was made for bids for interest on average daily balances, for interest on money of the City and School funds as may be deposited and permitted to remain without diminution for periods of at least 30, 60, or 90 days; and from such banks as can qualify under the ordinances of the City as Active Banks for the fiscal year 1932 for interest which they will pay on the average daily balances, to be computed and paid in the same way as on City and School moneys deposited in any such bank if the same is designated as an Active Bank, such bid and the rate offered to be separate and distinct from the rate of interest which such bank will pay on time deposits.

In accordance with advertisement, bids were opened December 3, 1931, at 11 o'clock A. M., for both City and School funds. The bids received by the Comptroller are listed in statement attached.

We are advised by the Corporation Counsel that "the ordinance approving bids should provide for specifying the limit of deposits therein at the time the banks are named as depositaries". Therefore, the "Amount Bid For" is to be designated in the ordinance.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed)

M. S. SZYMCAK,

DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

In the Matter of Payment for Services of Samuel P. Gurman as a Special Assistant Corporation Counsel.

The City Clerk presented the following communication, submitted by the Corporation Counsel, which was, together with the ordinance and order transmitted therewith, referred to the Committee on Finance:

DEPARTMENT OF LAW,
CHICAGO, December 9, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—On July 8, 1931, your honorable body passed an ordinance authorizing the Corporation Counsel to appoint Samuel P. Gurman as Special Assistant Corporation Counsel to prosecute the claims of the City of Chicago pending in the Treasury Department as Nos. 2100436 to 2100443, both inclusive, for refund of income taxes paid the United States government on moneys obtained from the City by certain real estate and building experts.

It was provided in said ordinance that no compensation shall become due or payable to said Gurman until a valid appropriation for same shall have been passed.

Pursuant to the authority given to the Corporation Counsel by said ordinance, Samuel P. Gurman was appointed as Special Assistant Corporation Counsel to prosecute said claims, and he worked upon these until the Supreme Court of Illinois rendered its last decision in the case of Tribune Company vs. Faherty, No. 19785. By that decision the right of the real estate experts to the fees upon which they paid their income taxes, involved in the claims pending in the Treasury Department, was finally adjudicated in favor of the experts, and accordingly the claim of the City for a refund of these taxes had to be abandoned.

In the meantime Mr. Gurman has rendered bills aggregating $2,685.31 for services rendered and expenditures made by him, beginning July 9, 1931, to and including November 5, 1931, at the rate established by the ordinance of July 8, 1931. An outline of the work done by Mr. Gurman is presented in a letter from him dated November 25, 1931, a copy of which is hereto attached.

There is sufficient money in the 1931 appropriation for this department remaining unexpended which may be used for the payment of these bills if a transfer of funds should be effected from Account 30-L-1, Court Reporting, to Account 30-B, Personal Services. If it is the desire of the City Council to provide for the payment of the bills of Samuel P. Gurman in the manner suggested, an order should be passed by the City Council directing the payment thereof out of funds appropriated for the Law Department, and an ordinance should be passed authorizing the transfer of $2,000.00 from Account 30-L-1 to 30-B to provide sufficient moneys in the 30-B account to pay these bills.

We transmit herewith a draft order and ordinance covering the subject.

Very truly yours,

(Signed)

JOSEPH F. GROSSMAN,
Second Assistant Corporation Counsel.

MAYOR.

Veto.

Firestone Realty Co.: Driveways.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following veto message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, December 16, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval, an order passed by our honorable body on December 11, 1931, and appearing on page 1451 of the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of that date, whereby the Commissioner of Public Works is directed to issue a permit to Firestone Realty Co. to construct and maintain three driveways across the sidewalk at the premises known as the north side of 16th street between Wabash avenue and the alley west.

My reason for vetoing said order is that the permit to be thus issued and the work to be performed thereunder should be issued and done in accordance with the ordinances of the City of Chicago governing the construction and maintenance of driveways. Consequently, the form of the said order is objectionable. I have caused a redraft of said order to be made embodying the provisions just mentioned and I recommend that the vote by which the said order was passed be reconsidered and that, if your honorable body desires to grant the permit, the order transmitted herewith be substituted in place of the one originally passed.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

A. J. CERMAK,
Mayor.

Alderman Arvey moved to reconsider the vote by which said vetoed order was passed.

of that date, whereby the Commissioner of Buildings is directed to issue a permit to Louis Zimmerman to make repairs to a building at No. 4343 Indiana avenue.

My reason for vetoing said order is that there is nothing said in same about approval of plans or anything to indicate that said repairs will be made in conformity with the ordinances of the City.

I therefore recommend that the vote by which the said order was passed be reconsidered and that same be referred to the Committee on Buildings and Zoning for further consideration.

Yours very truly,

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following veto message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, December 16, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval, an order passed by your honorable body on December 11, 1931, and appearing on page 1455 of the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of that date, by which the Commissioner of Gas and Electricity is directed to issue a permit to the Southtown Theater to erect and maintain two illuminated signs, to project over the sidewalk adjoining the premises known as 610-638 West 63rd street.

My reason for vetoing said order is that the order should contain a provision that the construction and maintenance of such signs shall be in conformity with the ordinances governing the construction and maintenance of same.

I therefore recommend that the vote by which said order was passed be reconsidered and that the same, if the Council desires to grant the privilege, should be repassed with the following addition thereto: "the said permit to be issued and the work therein authorized to be done in accordance with the ordinances of the City of Chicago governing the construction and maintenance of illuminated signs of this character".

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

A. J. CERMAK,
Mayor.

Immaculate Conception Catholic Church: Addition to a Building.

Honorable A. J. Cermak, Mayor, submitted the following veto message:

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
CHICAGO, December 16, 1931.

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval, an order passed by your honorable body on December 11, 1931, and appearing on page 1455 of the Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of that date, whereby the Commissioner of Buildings and the Commissioner of Health are directed to issue a permit to Immaculate Conception Catholic Church to erect and maintain an addition, 30 feet by 70 feet, to the existing frame building located at the southwest corner of 44th street and Fairfield avenue.

My reason for vetoing said order is that there is no provision therein by which any precaution is taken against the violation of ordinances governing the erection of such frame buildings, and the building proposed to be erected under the said order is too large to be permitted without such safeguards being adopted.

I therefore recommend that the vote by which the said order was passed be reconsidered and that the same be referred to the Committee on Buildings and Zoning for further consideration.

(Signed)

Mayor.

My reason for vetoing said order is that I am informed by the Corporation Counsel that the authority intended to be granted by said order is beyond the power of the City Council and said order would therefore be illegal.

I recommend that the vote by which said order was passed be reconsidered and that the same be placed on file.

A RESOLUTION COMMENDING THE ACTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF CHICAGO.

WHEREAS, An attempt having been made by certain groups of citizens of the State of Illinois, organized for the avowed purpose of opposing medical research by the use of animals, to cause the State Legislature to pass laws that would seriously handicap research and diagnostic laboratories in the advancement of the scientific knowledge of medicine; and

WHEREAS, The legislature, having in two successive regular sessions refused approval of such restrictive legislation, these misguided citizens having sought to accomplish their purpose by interfering with the supplies of dogs available to the medical laboratories from the dog pound of the City of Chicago and to that end attempted to introduce into the legal code of the City of Chicago an ordinance that would, in its practical operation, seriously and dangerously restrict medical research and education; and

WHEREAS, The City Council, after careful investigation and deliberation, having passed legislation which removes the menace that existed under ordinances formerly in operation and which will make possible greater success in the research activities of the various institutions of learning which aim at the alleviation of human suffering; be it

Resolved, That the Faculty of the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois, go on record as expressing sincere and hearty approval of the action of the City Council in this legal provision, an action which represents an attitude of advanced enlightenment and an appreciation of scientific effort; be it, further

RAILWAY TERMINALS.

Report of Expenditures of the Committee on Railway Terminals.

The Committee on Railway Terminals submitted the following report, which was, on motion of Alderman Nelson, ordered published and placed on file:

CHICAGO, December 16, 1931.

To the Honorable, the Mayor and the City Council of Chicago, City Hall, Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—Because of the discussion that developed at the last meeting of the City Council, held Friday, December 11, 1931, with reference to an accounting of expenditures for an efficiency engineer, attorneys and committee expenditures, I submit the following statement with reference to the expenditures of the Committee on Railway Terminals.

I became Chairman of the Committee on Railway Terminals in the middle of April. The expenditures made by the Committee from the appropriation up to that time, or for a period of three and one-half months, amounted to $20,440.00.

Up to and including November 30th, or for a period of seven and one-half months, during which I have been Chairman of the Committee, the expenditures amount to $21,130.00.

It will thus be seen that during the first three and one-half months the expenditures amounted to 49% of the total expenditures for the eleven months of 1931.

The expenditures during this seven and one-half month period are detailed as follows:

Consulting Engineer	$10,600.00
1 Assistant Engineer	810.00
1 Assistant Engineer	1,785.00
Secretary and Chief Investigator.....	1,776.00
Investigator (Stenographer)	1,428.00
3 Investigators	3,689.00
Office and other expenses	1,042.00
	$21,130.00

The Consulting Engineer for the Committee on Railway Terminals is Mr. Edward J. Noonan. He became identified with the work of Railway Terminals and River Straightening for the City of Chicago as Consulting Engineer in 1913. He was at that time associated with Mr. John F. Wallace, who was employed by the Committee on Railway Terminals to advise it in connection with the preparation of the West Side Union Station ordinance.

In 1914 the City Council created by resolution the Railway Terminal Commission, of which Mr. John F. Wallace was Chairman and Mr. Noonan, Chief Engineer. Mr. Noonan has been employed as a Consulting Engineer by the Committee on Railway Terminals continuously since that time.

During the period that I have been Chairman, since April 15th last, there was prepared and submitted to the Council a report by the Consulting Engineer on the "Railway Passenger Terminal Situation at Chicago", making certain recommendations as to the grouping of passenger terminal facilities and the location of a station adjusted to the opening of streets through the South Side terminal district.

Since this report was made, the staff of the Committee has been in almost constant contact with engineers and other officials of the railroads with reference to features of the report and particularly with adjustment of street plans to railway terminal facilities.

Work has also begun on a study in connection with the adjustment of the suburban passenger traffic of the railroads to the plan for development of the local transportation system within the metropolitan area, as contemplated in the recent legislation affecting local transportation. The proper solution of this problem will have a far reaching effect on the future development of the City.

At a recent meeting of the Committee on Railway Terminals and after repeated suggestions from the Chicago Plan Commission, civic groups and interested property owners, the Committee requested the Board of Local Improvements, in connection with the Consulting Engineer of the Committee, to prepare plans for the opening of Franklin street from Harrison street to 22nd street. For this entire distance Franklin street will be located over tracks and facilities of railroad companies.

The proper working out of a plan for this improvement will require many adjustments in existing railroad facilities—the opportunity is present to save the City large sums of money in connection with this plan.

In connection with the question of the rearrangement of passenger terminal facilities, during the last month there was sent to the executives of all of the affected railroads, a questionnaire for the purpose of developing the attitude of the railroads on this improvement. During subsequent meetings of the Committee, replies from these questionnaires are expected and considerable work will be involved in the proper analysis of them.

For the purpose of comparison, the amounts appropriated and the amounts expended by the Committee on Railway Terminals during the past ten years are set forth in the following statement:

	Appropriation	Expenditures
1921	$ 45,500.00	$ 34,880.01
1922	41,500.00	41,051.33
1923	75,500.00	33,847.23
1924	52,000.00	36,586.34
1925	52,000.00	50,674.95

	Appropriation	Expenditures
1926	152,500.00	101,144.29
1927	93,750.00	93,490.94
1928	165,000.00	104,410.45
1929	80,734.57	80,440.30
1930	62,500.00	61,774.88

During the years 1916, 1927 and 1928, the expenses in connection with the River Straightening project, which included the work of the Citizens Committee, the preparation of ordinances, the preparation of a case before the Illinois Commerce Commission and the carrying of the case through to completion, were paid out of the appropriations of the Committee on Railway Terminals. This explains the large expenditures made by the Committee during those years.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORTS AND COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITY OFFICERS (RESUMED).

CITY COMPTROLLER.

City's "Aggregate of Funds": Authority for the Purchase of Refunding Bonds ($8,998,000.00) and Certain Tax Anticipation Warrants ($2,850,000.00).

The City Clerk presented the following communication submitted by the City Comptroller:

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE,
CHICAGO, December 17, 1931.

Honorable Mayor and City Council, in Council Assembled:

Noting the fact that the Legislature of the State of Illinois, in its present special session, has adjourned until after January 1, 1932, without having done anything toward the solution of the problem of re-establishing the City's credit, despite the pleadings and warnings given to it by his Honor, Mayor Cermak, and other public officials representing the City and various other taxing bodies of Chicago, the City Comptroller desires to call the City Council's attention to the fact that the City has $8,998,000 of principal due on its full faith and credit obligations maturing January 1, 1932, and in addition has $2,830,319 of interest due on bonded indebtedness on the same day (a total of $11,828,319).

We have in the City Treasury the sum of $515,399.00, in our sinking funds for payment of interest on our bonded indebtedness. Therefore, between now and December 31 of this year, we must provide $11,312,920, to pay both the principal maturing on our bonded indebtedness, in the sum of $8,998,000, and also additional cash above the amount in our sinking funds for the payment of interest on bonds, in the amount of $2,314,920, due on January 1.

It was hoped, and the hope was based on well-founded assurances, that we would be able to sell our refunding bonds if the State Legislature had taken the necessary fundamental action before January 1 on the Governor's Tax Conference program.

However, since the Legislature has made little or no progress but has recessed until after January 1, 1932, this adjournment of the Legislature without action therefore makes it absolutely necessary that the City Council act immediately, no matter how exacting such action may be, in order to protect the rights and interests of the taxpayers of Chicago by avoiding, insofar as it is humanly possible for the City Council to so avoid, any possible default upon the full faith and credit obligations of the City.

The City Comptroller therefore recommends to the City Council that the City Comptroller and the City Treasurer be directed to invest the balance of available cash now in its Aggregate of Funds by purchasing the refunding bonds authorized last October by the City Council, at par plus accrued interest, and also that sufficient of such Aggregate of Funds be invested in tax warrants of the Bond and Interest tax levy, for the purpose of providing sufficient cash, together with that now in the sinking funds, to pay the interest on the obligations due January 1, 1932.

The Comptroller realizes that this is a very serious and drastic step, but we cannot sell our refunding bonds at par, which we must, because of the delay on the part of the Legislature, nor can we sell any of our tax warrants.

As of this date, there is cash in the Aggregate of Funds of the City amounting to.....	$27,516,000.00
From this must be deducted the following:
Reserve for Educational Fund tax warrants, a/c resale of 1930 warrants....	$ 832,000.00
Cash in various funds of the Board of Education which must be reserved for interest payments due January 1 and February 1	1,577,000.00
Cash for interest on City bonds due January 1, 1932	515,399.00
Sinking funds for Water Bonds.....	1,075,000.00
Interest coupons matured.....	438,000.00
Bonds matured	19,000.00
Special Assessment funds (subject to demand).....	9,165,000.00
Taxes of 1928 and 1929 held in reserve for payment of tax warrants called but not as yet paid.....	1,550,000.00
Total of the above items, which must be held liquid to meet obligations maturing, or because of necessity of use.....	$15,171,399.00
Balance, representing cash in various bond funds, Water and Vehicle Tax Funds and all other funds of the City of Chicago.....	$12,344,601.00

It is this latter amount that we propose to use to invest in $11,350,000 of refunding bonds and tax warrants issued against the Bond and Interest tax levy, for the purpose of meeting the obligations due on January 1.

The City Council, of course, realizes the fact that this means a temporary tie-up of cash in these funds, so that we will be unable to pay any salaries and wages from any fund or pay contractors for any purpose whatever. It is unquestionably an extreme move, but because of lack of action on the part of the Legislature, this measure is absolutely necessary, in order to protect, insofar as humanly possible by the City Council, that most vital of all things, the credit of the City of Chicago, by avoiding a possible default.

Such default, of course, would place the City of Chicago on the black list as to investment of trust funds in Chicago securities throughout the greater part of the security markets of the world, for a period ranging from five to twenty-five years. Such black listing would so reduce the market for City of Chicago securities in the future as to make it absolutely necessary, if even then possible, to sell bonds, tax warrants and other securities of the City at such exorbitant rates of interest as to practically prohibit such sale.

There appears to be no alternative action for the City Council to take in this matter, as the credit of any individual, firm, private corporation or municipal corporation, in any kind of business, is their most essential possession. Nothing should stand in the way of protecting this vital necessity—thereby protecting the taxpayer and the municipal employee and creditor.

The City Comptroller presents herewith, for action by the City Council, possibly under suspension of the rules of the City Council, an ordinance authorizing and directing the City Comptroller and the City Treasurer to make the investments suggested above.

The Comptroller has given this subject a tremendous amount of consideration and time, and has been adverse to making any such extreme recommendation as this in the past, but due to existing conditions and his knowledge of the results to the credit of the City in case of failure to take any such action, the Comptroller feels compelled to do so at this time, principally because no action has been taken by the State Legislature to give this emergency matter the relief to which it was entitled.

This, then, is a move that should serve to aid in re-establishing credit—logically removing the possibility of increased cost of government through default, and also providing, through natural channels, the advancement of the sale of our municipal securities to the extent of paying salaries and wages for employes and creditors of the City.

In conclusion, the Comptroller desires to reiterate, the reasons for taking this extraordinary action at this time are as follows:

First, to prevent the City from going into default, and thereby increasing the heavy interest load now borne by the taxpayers of Chicago by an additional heavy financial load that would be represented by high interest rates and low bond prices on all future securities of the City, that would result in case of a default.

Second, to maintain the good faith of the security markets of the world in City of Chicago bonds, pending any possible action by the Legislature in the near future in regard to the re-establishment of the City's credit. Failure to pay interest and principal on bonded indebtedness due January 1 would so destroy the good faith of the security market in the City's bonds as to make it impossible to restore such faith, regardless of what action the Legislature might take in the future. The maintenance of such good faith is absolutely necessary if we are to be in position, hereafter, to resume payment of salaries and wages and contractors' accounts, because the payment of these expenses will for the next ten or twelve years at least be dependent upon the ability to borrow money at low rates, or until such time as the Working Cash Fund of the City will be in a position to carry the burden and until such time as confidence will have been restored.

Very truly yours,

(Signed)

M. S. SZYMCAK,
Comptroller.

WHEREAS, The market conditions in the security markets throughout the United States are in such condition that it will be practically impossible to sell such refunding bonds at par, and it will be desirable to finance the purchase of said funding bonds out of the City's own funds in order to avoid the loss of a considerable amount of money; therefore,

FIRE DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF FIRE PREVENTION.
CHICAGO, December 16, 1931.]

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Chicago:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith submit draft of an ordinance prepared by the Corporation Counsel amending Section 2510 of the Revised Chicago Code of 1931, so as to include a provision for the licensing of special stage firemen and fire guards in theaters and respectfully ask that it be passed so as to become effective for the year 1932.

This amendment is requested for the reason that the license provided therefor was included in The Chicago Code of 1922, but no doubt was inadvertently not included in the Chicago Code of 1931 due to an oversight.

Respectfully submitted,

Division Marshal in Charge of Fire Prevention.
